HALF-HARDY ANNUALS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Garden Correspondent says:—

Half-Hardy Annuals of all kinds may now be sown in shallow boxes, from which they will require to be pricked off when large enough to handle. It is much better to sow early and keep the plants growing steadily with very little artificial heat, than to start them into rapid and tender growth at a later period. It is sometimes advisable to grow hardy annuals in this way, as there are certain gardens in which it has been found impossible to produce a good summer display from seed sown in the open ground until late in the season. Examine tubers of Dahlias and Begonias, etc., and make the necessary preparations for starting them into growth later on. Fuchsias may now be shaken out, replotted and pruned, as growth will shortly commence. Geraniums struck last autumn should now be potted off singly and placed in as lightsome a position to start them into vigorous growth. Give plenty of air on all favourable occasions.

WINDY WEATHER.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times the Poultry Correspondent says:—

We have not much to complain of in connection with the weather since the year commenced; for, although we have had colt and wet spells, they have not lasted long. Indeed, we have had more of what the farmers call open weather than is usual in January. But the winds have been unfavourable; even when from the west they have been very cold, and windy weather of any sort has a detrimental effect on egg-production. Poultry keepers who have houses in exposed positions should have some protection from wind on all sides, as the wind shifts often. Wind-breaks made from hurdles and straw, pieces of galvanised iron, or even branches of trees, could be erected around windy points. We know some poultry farmers use old bags ripped up and attached to the wire netting of runs. But these are unsightly, and should only be used when nothing better is available.

Financial News & Notes

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN QUIET.

GUINNESS EASIER.

The new account opened in quiet fashion on Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday. There was no appreciable increase in the volume of business. On the whole, the tone was very steady, and price movements were in no case substantial.

Free State Funds were firm, the Second Loan rising ¼ to 112⅜, and the others repeating former prices. Land Bonds lost 5s. at 108. War Loan was again on the up grade.

Banks and Corporation Stocks were steady.

Among Rails, Great Northern Pref. rose 1 to 9, and the Debs. were 3¼ better at 50. Dublin Tram Pref. was ⅛ up at 11¼.

Guinness units were sellers in a small way and lost 6d. at 103s. 9d. The Pref. fell 1/16 to 14 11/16. Dublin Distillers "A" rose 3½d. to 7s. 9d. Burke Ord. rose 9d. to 17s. B. and I. Pref. was a few pence easier, and Alliance Gas was unchanged. Johnston Mooney Ord. repeated last price. Irish-American Oil Pref. was 4½d. to the good at 25s.

The Industrial section was dull for choice. Coats rose 7½d., Unilevers 9d. and Imperial Tobacco 3d.; but B.A.T., Dunlops, Cottons and Chemicals all lost a few pence. White Tomkins Ord. repeated last price. United Molasses were again a firm spot.

LONDON FIRM.

GOLD SHARES REACT.

Members' attention in the London Stock Markets yesterday was principally directed to the arrangement of the carry-over, but the volume of trading put through was again on quite a brisk scale. Gold shares did not monopolise attention to the same extent as during the close of last week, buying being on a much reduced scale, while the falling-off in demand was followed by a certain amount of professional selling, and, as a consequence, quotations displayed an easier trend. The advance in the price of gold to £7 per ounce—a new high record—exercised a steadying influence, but closing values were materially lower in numerous instances.

Quiet conditions characterised British Funds, but a somewhat firmer undertone was apparent, and the few movements returned at the close were in the right direction. German Bonds again provided the feature among Foreign Government stocks, and, following a good business, the 5½ per cent. returned an advance of a point to 68¾, while the Sevens were a further ¼ harder at 95¼. French Fours, on the other hand, reacted sharply on the disturbed political situation, the close being 1⅜ points down at 22½. With the dividends now imminent—the Midland is expected on Wednesday—a little selling was indulged in among British Rails, and quotations were lowered fractionally in several instances. Among Colonial and Foreign Rails "Can. Pacs." improved smartly, the closing level of 17 being 5/16 better than Saturday's finish, being helped by the good traffic return, while "Ircas" put on a further ½ to 5½. San Paulo Ordinary weakened 1½ points to 79, but others held steady. American Rails were rather firmer, with Southern Pacific and New York Central 2 points to the good.

Trading in the Industrial market was confined to rather narrow limits, but a number of strong points were in evidence. Among Motors, Rolls-Royce continued in active demand on talk of an increase in the dividend or a bonus, and, although closing under the best, still showed a further substantial gain. De Havilland were another good market, and Austins strengthened afresh. "E.M.I." were again prominent, and, following a persistent inquiry, they finished substantially harder. United Molasses and certain of the Textiles were other firm markets, while Trans-Atlantics improved after a quiet opening. In other directions Rubber shares failed to benefit from the sharp advance in the commodity, while Tea shares also showed little alteration. Oils kept firm.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

ROLLS-ROYCE ACTIVE.

Although there was not a great deal of fresh business passing for new account in the Industrial market yesterday some good features developed. Rolls-Royce were prominent, the buying being based on renewed talk of an increase in the dividend when the annual results are issued next month. The trans-Atlantic counters were well supported in response to Wall street advices, and finished around the best. "Emmies" went ahead again, and fresh buying was again in evidence for United Molasses.

With Wall street in bullish mood, the trans-Atlantic counters developed fresh strength, the feature in the late dealings being provided by Brazilian Traction, which jumped up to 14¼. "Emmies" again changed hands freely, being eventually 1s. 6d. to the good at 24s. 1½d., after touching 24s. 6d. bid at one time.

Cables and Wireless issues seemed rather uncertain, and showed little change on balance. Canadian Marconi reflected American advices, and gained 1s. 3d. to 10s. 9d., after being up to 11s. 7½d.

There was again quite a good business passing in Aviation and kindred descriptions. Rolls-Royce provided a prominent feature, rising at one time to 87s. 6d., and finishing with an improvement of 2s. at 86s. De Havilands also continued to receive active attention, and further advanced 1s. 6d. to 43s. 6d. Napiers came into request on favourable reports regarding aero-engine developments, and rose 6d. to 8s. 10½d.

In the Motor group Austins again provided the best spot, a continued demand taking the price up another 1s. to 75s. Fords rose 6d. to 25s.

Among Coal shares Bolsover Colliery were again a heavy market. Not only was disappointment caused by the small reduction in the dividend rate, but it was reported that there has recently been heavy speculation in the shares. At the close a decline of 1s. 3d. was shown at 30s.

Although one or two issues were on offer, the improvement seen in Textiles on Saturday generally made further progress. Bleachers finished 6d. higher at 11s., and Bradford Dyers were finally 7½d. to the good at 14s. 7½d. Fine Spinners putting on 6d. to 14s. 1½d. J. and P. Coats held Saturday's rise at 61s. 3d.

Not much interest transpired among Rayon descriptions. Courtaulds concluded 4½d. lower at 42s. 4½d., though British Celanese Ord. held their ground at 13s. Snias advanced 1/16 to 3 11/16. Canadian Celanese left off a shade lower at 3⅝, but American Celanese benefited from better Wall street advices, closing 1/16 up at 8¾.

Movements in Drapery and Stores issues were again of an irregular nature. Continuing under the influence of the good results, Cook, Son and Co. further advanced 6d. to 7s. 6d. On the other hand, Marks and Spencer receded fractionally to 9⅛. Woolworths were quoted ex dividend, finishing at 93s. 9d., this being a few pence harder after allowing for the deduction.

Breweries received moderate support in places, but prices moved in rather irregular fashion. Barclay Perkins strengthened to 28s. 6d., and some inquiry was received for Benskins and Phipps Ord., but Guinness, Taylor Walker and South African Breweries Ord. eased somewhat.

Among Alcohol issues, a fair turnover was witnessed in Seager Evans, which finished around 28s., while Dublin Distillers advanced to 8s. Distillers had buyers at the close at around 85s.

Tobaccos made a rather mixed showing. "Imps" opened at 118s. 3d., but eventually receded to 117s. 9d., while Carreras "A" gave way to 7 13/16. "Bats" gained the turn at 5⅞, with buyers also in evidence for Gallahers, Godfrey Phillips and United South.

Miscellaneous shares generally moved irregularly, though in places there was evidence of good support. United Molasses continued to attract considerable attention, finishing another 10½d. up at 22s. 7½d., after touching 22s. 10½d. The scheme for the capital reduction was sanctioned in the Chancery Division by Mr. Justice Eve yesterday. Among other leading counters Dunlops were the turn harder at 42s. 3d. and Imperial Chemical Ord. and Deferred both finished steady at their previous levels.

OIL SHARES BRIGHTER.

Dealers in Oil shares reported quite a satisfactory turn-over in the leading counters yesterday, the new account opening in quite promising fashion.

Advices received over the week-end in regard to the course of American Oil stocks on Saturday last were encouraging, several being quoted higher.

Locally a steady enquiry existed. As regards business on Continental account, Paris was at first a buyer of Internationals, but the demand ceased when the franc became easier, and prices receded.

The news received over the week-end in regard to the position in respect of the disputed Amatlan lands was reassuring, and Mexican Eagles were a better market in consequence.

It now appears that the report that the Mexican Eagle Oil Co. had lost its title to the land in question is erroneous. Moreover, it is stated that the Mexican Eagle Co. has no fear regarding the final decision. At the close several of the leaders were the turn harder, though the best levels were not always maintained.

RUBBER SHARES FIRMER.

Although the sharp advance registered in the commodity induced a little buying in the Rubber Share Market, share quotations failed to respond materially, and at the close little change was shown in values. The strength of the raw material was the result of Dr. Colijn's encouraging statement regarding hopes of an early restriction. Spot and February sold up to 4 11/16d. per lb., while April to June was quoted 5d. to 5 1/16d. per lb., with July to September at 5 1/16d. to 5 3/16d. per lb., and October to December at 5 3/16d. to 5 5/16d. per lb. In accordance with expectations, United Kingdom stocks of rubber were 427 tons higher on the week, for, while Liverpool stocks were reduced by 100 tons to 51,937 tons, London stocks at 39,064 tons were 527 tons higher on the week.

LONDON "STREET" MARKET.

There was a fair amount of activity among the trans-Atlantic counters in Shorter's Court last evening, and most of the leading issues further improved. Tractions were in demand, and rose from 13 13/16 to 14¼. Nickels put on ⅛ at 25 1/16, while Hydros and holdings were also better at 8 5/16 and 2¼ respectively. Radios improved ⅛ to 9 5/16 and Steels rose ⅜ to 59¾, but Woolworths at 93s. 9d. were slightly easier. In the Rail group Canadian Pacifics hardened to 17 1/16.

American Celanese hardened to 8¾, and elsewhere Distillers at 85s. were a few pence to the good.

There was a small market in Mines, and among the Rhodesians "B.S.T." were freely dealt in and put on 6d. to 13s. 7½d., while Selection Trust hardened at 13s. 9d. Among the Kaffirs, East Rands closed easier at 46s. 6d., and Randfontein were 3d. less at 46s. 6d.

LONDON MINING MARKET SLOWER.

RHODESIANS COME INTO PROMINENCE.

At the opening yesterday the Mining Market presented a fairly busy appearance, but when public orders had been completed a comparatively quiet period was experienced pending the announcement of the price of gold. When it became known that the record level of £7 per ounce had been reached a more cheerful tendency prevailed.

The news from Paris was not of a nature to inspire confidence, however, and the steady decline in the value of the franc was taken to indicate either that France would be forced off gold or that its export would be restricted. In either case this was regarded as a bull point for the gold producers.

Kaffirs were never very sure of themselves, for the French capital sold many of its favourites, and as the Cape was a rather persistent seller of Randfontein the trend of values was generally downward. Moreover, the making-up prices revealed some very substantial rises and considerable profit-taking was in progress.

Several Rhodesians came into prominence, especially the Finance descriptions, and some appreciable gains were scored, but Tins remained dullish throughout the day.

Among West Africans Ashanti Goldfields were a centre of activity. Australian Gold shares went ahead sharply in the morning, but mostly closed slightly below the best of the day. Indians were easier for choice. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET

GOLD RISES TO 140/-.

The price of gold yesterday rose 1s. 9d. to 140s. per oz. fine, being based on supply and demand. This is the highest official price so far recorded. About £1,540,000 was in the market, and was bought for the usual quarters, believed to be chiefly America.

There was a good demand for money yesterday, short loans being done at ¾ to 1 per cent.

Interest in the Foreign Exchange market was yesterday transferred from the dollar to the franc. The latter underwent a sharp depreciation in relation to sterling, the exchange on Paris at one time touching 80½. The weakness resulted partly from the fresh political crisis in France, and partly from the fears that France would abandon the gold standard. A significant feature was the appearance of wide discount on all the gold currencies, notably on the francs. Dollars, on the other hand, were a comparatively narrow market, the range for the day being no more than 3½c. The closing dollar rate was only ½c. higher than on Saturday morning at 4.93⅞. Canadian dollars were ½c. firmer at 4.97½. The final rate on Paris was 79 13/16, compared with 77 11/16 at the close on Saturday. Heavy forward sales of francs were reported, and the discount on the three months' rate increased to about 1⅞f. during the day, but finished at 1⅛f. discount. Movements of the other gold exchanges were also sharply in favour of London. In spite of the reaction in the price of silver in London the Eastern currencies showed little change at the close.

GOLD PROFIT FOR JANUARY.

TIN OUTPUT FOR JANUARY.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Gold £7 Per Ounce.

Gold rose to a new high price in the London market yesterday, 140s. per fine ounce. This was 1s. 9d. higher than Saturday's price, and 6d. higher than the previous highest, which was reached on Friday. Yesterday's gold price represents the unprecedented premium of 5s. to 6s. an ounce over the Bank of France's buying price. Converted into dollars at the rate ruling shortly after the fixing, yesterday's London gold price is equal to 34.52 dollars. This is 48 cents below the United States Treasury price, while on Saturday the difference was 96 cents. On the basis of the London gold price, the value of the dollar is 59.88 former gold cents, as compared with 60.72 on Saturday and the official objective of 59.06.

Dutch and Rubber Restriction.

The Dutch Government may be able to take a decision on rubber restriction shortly, stated Dr. Colijn, the Prime Minister, in reply to a report of the Lower Chamber on the Colonial Budget for 1934. Several important meetings have been held recently in connection with the Dutch Government's projects. The State Council of the Dutch East Indies has been meeting in Batavia to discuss the situation, while Dutch and British rubber interests have been in consultation in Amsterdam. Progress is reported to have been slow in connection with the technical aspects of the scheme, especially in regard to the question of native rubber.

Lloyds and Gold.

Owing to the high values of the gold being shipped by the Berengaria and the Bremen to New York, high reinsurance rates were paid at Lloyd's on Friday and Saturday. On the shipment by the Berengaria up to 6s. 3d. per cent. was paid on Saturday, as compared with the normal rate of 1s. per cent. for trans-Atlantic voyages, while on the Bremen shipment 5s. per cent. was quoted, though so far as can be ascertained the highest rate actually paid was 3s. 4d. per cent. The reason for these high rates is that the market is "full," the majority of underwriters who accept gold risks having already as much, or more, than they can prudently risk on one voyage in one vessel.

Rand Taxation Concessions.

The Financial News Johannesburg correspondent writes:—I am now able definitely to state that notable concessions will be incorporated in the next Budget to mines which have been particularly hard hit by the excess profits tax. Serious anomalies have been discovered in the incidence of the tax in the course of the past year. Some mines, indeed, are losing virtually all the benefits of the gold premium. The Government has carefully considered the matter, and has now arrived at a formula giving generous relief, without affecting the £6,000,000 sterling which the State is receiving from the tax. Some even hint that the latter figure may be reduced by £1,000,000. Further interesting legislation is the bill amending the gold law, which is rapidly passing Parliament. When it becomes law, a wave of activity is anticipated by the big houses, which have large flotations ready for launching on the market.

Skandinaviska and Kreuger Bonds.

According to reports circulating on the Stockholm Bourse, the recent rise in the shares of the Skandinaviska Kredit A.B., which touched 170, may be attributed to the negotiations which it is believed are in progress between the company and the German Government for the re-sale to the latter of German bonds of the nominal value of 79,000,000 marks. These bonds were originally issued to Ivar Kreuger against a loan of 125,000,000 dollars at the time he secured the German match monopoly. Later they passed into the hands of the Kredit Co. as security for a loan to Kreuger. The Stockholm newspaper Afton Bladet understands that Germany is willing to take back the bonds at 78 per cent. of their nominal value. Hitherto the Kredit Co. has stood out for their full par value, although the bonds have been standing in their books at about a half of that figure.

Lloyds Bank.

Lloyds Bank, Ltd., announce that Mr. A. H. Ensor, deputy chief accountant, has been appointed chief accountant in succession to Mr. F. C. Trott, who has retired from active service. Mr. H. J. Hutchens, an advance department controller, has been appointed deputy chief accountant.

Coming Announcements.

Company announcements expected during the next week or so include the following:—L.M.S. dividends, William C. Gray report, Imperial Tobacco full report, Kelsall and Kemp report, Lewis's, Ltd., results; Scottish Waggon report. The dividend dates of the other home railway companies are:—Southern, February 12; Great Western, February 14; L.N.E., February 16.

Italian Conversion Loan.

The R. Italian Government has decided to issue a new loan, 3½ per cent., redeemable within 42 years from 1st January, 1937, by way of purchases on the market and draws, free from tax, the issue representing the conversion at par, from 1st January, 1934, of the Consolidated Loan 5 per cent., issued during the year 1917. On every 100 lire of nominal capital converted a premium of 4.50 lire will be paid on the 23rd April next; for each milliard of nominal capital converted premiums amounting to ten million lire will be drawn on the 20th December, 1934, the total amount of premiums being calculated to reach the sum of 600 million lire. Great facilities as to taxes and in other respects are granted. Holders who do not accept conversion will be repaid the nominal capital at the rate of 100 lire per each five lire of interest, and interest at the same rate will be paid to them up to the end of the year 1936.

Rubbers Strong.

The Mincing Lane Raw Rubber market was strong yesterday on speculative and trade buying following the report from Holland that a decision on restriction may, according to the Dutch Prime Minister, be taken shortly. A little profit-taking towards the close caused prices to finish below the best, but spot showed a gain of 1/16 at 4⅞, after having been 4 15/16, the highest price since August, 1930. United Kingdom rubber stocks were increased by 427 tons last week to 91,001 tons, London's total rising 527 tons to 39,064 tons and Liverpool's falling 100 tons to 51,937 tons. United Kingdom stocks a year ago were 89,420 tons.

New Shipping Appointment.

The managers of the Orient Line have appointed Miss Isabel Crowdy, who was until recently on the staff of Sir Philip Game, Governor of New South Wales, to act as information officer at their Cockspur street office. Her wide experience, both in England and in Australia, qualifies her admirably to advise British people about Australia and Australians about Britain.

Ashanti Goldfields.

The Ashanti Goldfields Corporation, Ltd., reports a record profit for January at £66,531. The previous best figure was £65,973 in December, 1932. Last month's profit included £33,404 from premium on sales of gold. The tonnage crushed was 13,945 (of 2,000lb.), and the yield 15,503 ounces of fine gold, of a value at par of £65,857.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

A Chair of Political Economy : A Talented Family.
Breakages : Belgium's Representative : An Army Doctor.

A Family of Talent.

Looking through the list of publications by the Macquarie Head Press, Sydney—a house which is striving to give Australia a vigorous literary life—I was interested to see therein the announcement of a novel by Mr. Francis Crosslé, a tale with scenes in Ireland.

The Crosslés are a Newry family of Huguenot origin, remarkable for their literary gifts. Mr. Philip Crosslé is joint author with Mr. John Heron Lepper of the official history of Freemasonry in Ireland. His father, the late Dr. Crosslé, was an antiquary of note, who compiled a huge volume of olden records of Newry. The Crosslé volumes fill several shelves at the National Library, and are consulted by people of the Newry region as a main source of information concerning the families which flourished there in former times. The Northern Record Office in Belfast also has valuable Crosslé papers, I believe.

It has been stated, but I have not confirmed this, that the Crossley family of County Antrim springs from the same French stock as the Crosslés. Few Irish folk know that the Crossley engines and motors are manufactured by a firm that bears an Irishman's name. Francis William Crossley, born at Glenburn, County Antrim, in 1839, was the inventor who founded that firm, with the aid of his brother, Sir William Crossley, Baronet.

Belgium's Representative.

At the Press Fund dance last Saturday night I met an old friend whom I had not seen for quite a long time in the person of Monsieur M. Goor, the Belgian Consul-General. Monsieur Goor has been with us so long that he has almost ceased to be regarded as a foreigner, particularly as he speaks perfect English, virtually without a trace of an accent. He is one of the most accomplished of the foreign representatives in this country, and has a very wide knowledge of affairs. During the War he was Belgian Consul in Ottawa, with the result that he has acquired a large experience of work in the British Empire, and is an authority on imperial politics. Monsieur and Madame Goor both are keen devotees of the outdoor life, and during the summer they spend every available minute of their time in their bungalow at Brittas Bay. Their sons, one of whom is a fine athlete, were educated in Dublin, and the elder boy is a popular figure in Trinity College.

An Army Doctor.

I was interested to meet Dr. J. T. Robinson, of the R.A.M.C., last week and to hear that he had just been promoted to the rank of captain in the Service. While at Trinity Captain Robinson was an outstanding figure in the athletic world, being the half-mile University champion and an athletic "Pink." He was also a good Rugby man, playing for Old Wesley 1st XV., and afterwards for Trinity, until injuries put a stop to his football career. He did very well in the Medical School, getting second place in Medicine and Surgery at the Finals, and being awarded the Hudson Memorial Scholarship by the Adelaide Hospital, where he was house surgeon after graduating. He is at present home on leave from the Sudan, and is working at a medical thesis for the M.D. degree.

Breakages.

A friend tells me a story which certainly has its amusing side with reference to an experience she had recently with one of her maids. For the first month the girl was employed the breakages were a very considerable factor, so, with a view to making her more careful, my friend threatened to take a note of the items broken and deduct the amount of damages from the salary payable at the end of the second month. Accordingly, when the first entry necessitated recording, she pinned a piece of paper on the back of a cupboard door in the kitchen and wrote down particulars of the breakage.

Several days passed, and again my friend had recourse to the cupboard door. Judge of her complete confusion to find herself forestalled; for, from a sense of conscience, or that "desire to please" on which the maid prided herself, six items had been entered by the girl in the meantime.

A New Professor.

I hear that an appointment to the vacant Chair of Political Economy in the University of Dublin will probably be made this week, and, in view of the increasingly important place that the science of economics—the modern name for political economy—is taking in the modern world, I feel sure that the name of the new professor will be awaited with considerable interest. The Chair in Trinity has a most distinguished history. Founded in 1832 by the Most Rev. Richard Whately, D.D., Archbishop of Dublin (formerly Professor of Political Economy at Oxford), who paid the annual stipend of the post out of his own pocket until his death in 1865, it has been held by many famous men. The first holder, Dr. Mountiford Longfield, made important contributions to the theory of economics, and actually anticipated the famous "marginal value" theory. His works have had the unusual distinction of being reprinted in the London School of Economics series of "Scarce Tracts in Social and Political Science." His successor was Isaac Butt, the famous Home Ruler, who, like other Trinity patriots, was responsible for the inauguration of a great political movement. Other holders of the Chair were Dr. James Slattery, who became President of Queen's College, Cork, and Dr. J. A. Lawson, who became Judge of the Common Pleas. Mr. James Johnston Shaw, M.A., who held the Chair in 1877, afterwards was appointed a County Court Judge—legal and economic studies being pursued together in those days.

Former Occupants.

Possibly the two most famous occupants of the Chair have been John Elliott Cairnes, M.A. (from 1856 to 1861), and Professor Charles Francis Bastable, LL.D., F.B.A., who only recently vacated the post. Cairnes wrote the "Slave Power" in 1862—a book which has been described as "the most powerful defence of the cause of the Northern States of America ever written." He exercised great influence upon public opinion and upon important public issues, and at the death of John Stuart Mill, in 1873, was recognised as the foremost living British economist, especially as his best-known book, "Some Leading Principles of Political Economy Newly Explained," was published in the following year. Professor Bastable, who is, I hear, enjoying the best of health in a well-merited retirement, was appointed to the Chair in 1882, and in 1912 was given a life tenure of the professorship, which he retained until 1932—the centenary year of the foundation of the Chair—thus completing a remarkable record of half a century's service to the University. His books on Public Finance, International Trade, and the Commerce of Nations have become standard works in their respective fields, have gone through many editions, and have been translated into several different languages.

F. Y. Edgeworth, who was Tooke Professor of Political Economy at King's College, London, and Drummond Professor at Oxford until 1926, was educated at Trinity before going to Oxford, and has been described by Mr. J. M. Keynes as "the most eminent of the nineteenth century pioneers in mathematical economics." He was first editor and co-founder of the Economic Journal in 1891, and remained on the staff of that important paper until his death.

QUIDNUNC.

BULLET COUGHED UP.

A violent fit of coughing during the week-end dislodged a bullet which a Hull man had carried in his lungs for thirty-four years. When aged twelve the man, Albert Johnson, a painter, now 46, was playing on the river bank when he was shot through the nose. He was taken to hospital, but the bullet was never found.

Johnson, who served in the War, experienced a violent fit of coughing during the week-end. He states: "'I felt something hit the roof of my mouth and fall to the floor. I picked it up, and it was the missing bullet." Johnson's doctor declares that the bullet had been lodged in the man's lungs for the whole of the thirty-four years.

THE ROTUNDA HOSPITAL.

STORY OF ITS FOUNDATION.

DUBLIN ROTARY CLUB LECTURE.

MR. REGINALD KEATINGE, O.B.E., gave his fellow-members of the Dublin Rotary Club yesterday an interesting account of the foundation of the Rotunda Hospital, with special reference to the decoration of the chapel of the institution.

Mr. P. T. Montford presided.

The hospital was built in the year 1751 by Dr. Bartholomew Mosse, who was the son of the Rector of Maryborough, where he was born in 1712.

Mr. Keatinge gave a brief sketch of the early career of Dr. Mosse, and read extracts from correspondence that passed between Dr. Mosse and an Italian artist, M. Cipriani, in London one hundred and seventy-six years ago in relation to the decoration of the chapel. In the first letter from Dr Mosse he suggested that the subject of the painting on the ceiling should be the Nativity of Our Saviour, and those for the shields, such as Abraham offering up his son Isaac, Pharaoh's daughter taking Moses out of the bullrushes, etc. Cipriani wrote back stating that, whether his sketch was approved of or not, he would have forty guineas for it. The letter continues:—"If you should approve of it, we shall then treat about the sum that I shall expect for my coming to Dublin and painting the things according to my sketch, and then you will give me leave to be so explicit as to tell you with honest freedom that I shall insist upon having the money to be agreed upon insured here in London. Was I a great and rich man I should not be scrupulous, but as I must live by my pencil I must make sure of my merchandise and sell it in a mercantile manner. I forewarn you likewise that I will have no superintendent to my work, and will not be under the least control. This winter, then, if you agree to it, I shall make the sketch, and after having been paid for it, one-half before I begin and the other half when I shall be done, I shall send it to you; and in case it gives satisfaction, and the sum be agreed upon for the whole work, I shall set out next spring for Ireland to do it."

ITALIAN HUMOUR.

Dr. Mosse agreed to these conditions, and in his letter of October 20th, 1758, he wrote: "As this Chapel is intended only for Protestant worship I would have the painting entirely free from any superstitions or Popish representation."

Cipriani, in reply, wrote: "I almost forgot to tell you that you shall have no other Popery in your picture than the Nativity of Our Saviour, and as I am pretty sure that the Pope shall never set foot in Ireland, so you may be confident that my picture will never contribute to the enlargement of His Holiness's jurisdiction."

The sketch, continued Mr. Keatinge, was finished, and after the death of Dr. Mosse, in February, 1759, his executors, for the honour of his memory, wrote to Cipriani for it, and offered to pay the remaining twenty guineas, but the painter did not choose to part with it, so the hospital was thus deprived of the last memento of the doctor's refined taste in works of art. If this work had been carried out, a very remarkable addition would have been made to the many works of art, of which Dublin was the proud possessor.

At the age of 31 years, said Mr. Keatinge, Dr. Mosse settled in Dublin, and opened an hospital for poor lying-in women in George's lane, facing Fade street. The demand for beds grew so rapidly that in 1748 Dr. Mosse purchased ground in Great Britain street (now Parnell street), on which he erected the existing building, which cost over £20,000.

A FORMER "SWEEP."

He raised the money by the promotion of lottery schemes. He continued to raise money on his own credit, but was harassed by stories spread about by his enemies. When he went to London in 1753 they reported that he had absconded for debt and would not return. He replied vigorously by laying before the public a statement of which many hundred copies were distributed both in London and in Dublin. In 1756 Parliament made him a grant of £6,000 towards his great project, and a further grant of £6,000 was made by Parliament in 1757, together with £2,000 to Dr. Mosse as a reward for his efforts. In 1756 the hospital was opened by the Duke of Bedford, Lord Lieutenant, and 52 poor women were admitted. Since then the hospital's services are fully recognised and appreciated by the whole Irish community.

Mr. George O'Connor expresed the appreciation of the Club for the interesting lecture to which they had listened with pleasure. Although the hospital building was out of date, the Chapel was a beautiful piece of work. Dublin undoubtedly was rich in eighteeenth century architecture. The buildings were externally imposing, but the real beauty was in the inside of the houses.

Mr. H. S. Gower seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously.

IT is not surprising to discover that, except for North Regional, nothing of any account figures in the programmes to-night between the hour of 8.30 and 9, when Mr. George Bernard Shaw will speak from Daventry National on "Whither Britain?" This series of talks, which has attracted such wide attention, probably has reached the peak of interest by the anticipation of hearing what G.B.S. has to say. Of one thing we may be certain—whatever he says on the subject will be the unexpected.

Those who are familiar with the vagaries of this man of genius will not be surprised if he does not touch on the subject of Britain's future at all. Others may remember how on one occasion when he was broadcasting he exceeded his allotted time, and kept his listeners in terror; for they know this is a deadly sin at Broadcasting House. However, to-night from 8.30 to 9 has been given over to Shaw, and "Whither Britain?" and listeners will hear for themselves how it is filled in.

It is remarkable how in the world of song we remember the singer, we remember the composer of the music, we even remember the words; but, how often do we know, or even trouble to find out, who wrote them? Listeners may be surprised to find how many of our best and really well known songs were written by the same man, and that his name is Edward Lockton; further, that his words have been set to music by such composers as Tosti, Eric Coates, Sir Landon Ronald, Leoncavallo, Easthope Martin, Sir Frederick Cowen and many others.

A programme of songs for which Lockton wrote has been arranged for to-night, and possibly many to whom they have given pleasure frequently will, on hearing them again, feel a little shame when they confess they never even wondered who was responsible for the words they know so well. The interpretation of these songs to-night is entrusted to Sophie Rowlands (soprano), Frank Titterton (tenor) and Kenneth Ellis (bass). (Daventry, 7.45.)

CATHOLIC GIRL GUIDES.

The annual Catholic Girl Guide celebration in honour of St. Brigid was held in St. Joseph's Hall, Longford, on Sunday, in the presence of a large and representative gathering. Mrs. Loftus (the President of the Executive Council), Mrs. Ward (National Secretary), and Commissioner Barniville travelled from Dublin to be present. The celebration took the form of an investiture, followed by a concert and céilidhe given by the Guides.

Recruits from two local companies were enrolled by the Rev. Chaplain, Father Wall, Cathedral. An apology for non-attendance was received from the Most Rev. Dr. McNamee, Bishop of Ardagh and Clonmacnoise.

The President (Mrs. Loftus), referring to the revival of devotion to St. Brigid, said that Guides may well be proud of the fact that since the inception of the movement over seven years ago, one of the chief aims has been to encourage and promote devotion to St. Brigid and the Irish Saints. The highest ideals in guiding are associated in the closest way possible with the faith, and in these days of pagan ideas, false economic principles, denying God, the Guides, by living up to their promise of allegiance to Church, country, and home, can be a power for good in their own sphere.

In conclusion, she congratulated the local association, the captains, and guides on their splendid progress.

Among those also present were:—The Rev. Father Wall, Chaplain to the Companies; the Rev. Father Green, Diocesan Examiner; the Rev. Father Carney, Mrs. McKeown (Chairman of the Local Association), Miss Cooney (Secretary), Mrs. Anthony Farrell, Mrs. Power, Mrs. Sharkey, Miss Gardiner, Miss Maguire, Miss Gretta Kelly, Captain Newman, and Captain McAdden.

The house of an Englishman living in Granada, Mr. Frank Gilbert, was burnt down by thieves yesterday, apparently as an act of revenge because they could not find any money. A large number of valuable tapestries, pottery, and objects of art were carried off.

LILIAN DAVIDSON'S PICTURES.

SOME STRIKING EXHIBITS.

Those who have been solicitous for the artistic progress of Lilian Davidson will be gratified by much in her "one-man" show at the Gallery of the Country Shop, 23 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin. Miss Davidson exhibits nearly sixty pictures, small and large, most of them water-colours, and half a dozen of outstanding merit. She has vision, and crude and rude, as some of her subjects may be, out of very human sympathy with the humblest she composes scenes of life and interest. Fine feeling is always expressed, while the artist's colour sense and draughtsmanship seldom fail to achieve a pleasing composition. No. 7, "Digging Bait," has animation as its striking feature. It is a symposium of busy fishermen striving with quick energy over watery sands amid misty, moving light and a kind story well told. "The Sun Sets, Leenane" (No. 23) and (No. 24) "Mountain Home" are pleasing presentations of cloud and light. No. 35 is another good piece of cloud description.

The artist has gone far and wide for her subjects, but always has brought away something picturesque, be it only a wide stretch of half-lighted countryside or a bare roadway disappearing into distant hills. Sheep and mountain slopes have twice made storyful compositions for her capable brush.

CALL FOR FREE SCHOOL BOOKS.

CORPORATION'S ACTION.

PROTEST AGAINST SALARIES "CUTS."

RESOLUTIONS calling for free school books for primary school children, and objecting to "cuts" in the salaries of the Council's officials, under the Government's new Economies Bill, were passed at last night's meeting of the Dublin Corporation.

The resolution protesting against the proposals of the Local Services (Temporary Economies) (No. 2) Bill, as being likely to inflict unnecessary hardship on the officials of the Corporation, was passed by fourteen votes to nine, on the proposal of Mr. M. O'Sullivan, seconded by Mr. O'Hara.

A letter on the subject from the secretary of the Dublin Corporation branch of the Irish Local Government Officials' Union said that at the outside the reductions would mean no more than £3,500 a year—equivalent to ½d. rate.

Mr. T. Kelly, T.D., argued that the deductions would entail no hardship on the officials. The "cuts," he added, were only for one year.

Mr. P. Belton, T.D., said that the economic "war" was going on for ever.

Dr. C. Murphy, a Fianna Fail member, voted against his party in favour of the resolution.

THE PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Legislation to provide free school books for all children attending primary schools in Dublin was urged in a resolution passed by the Council, on the motion of Mr. O'Sullivan, seconded by Mrs. Walsh.

The resolution protested against the hardship and humiliation imposed on thousands of children attending city primary schools, because of their inability to purchase the books and equipment necessary for their education.

Mr. O'Sullivan said that they were told that education was free; therefore, everything connected with it should be free.

Mrs. Walsh said that she had often found that children were afraid to go to school because their parents could not afford to buy them books. Teachers had told her that they often had to buy books for children.

Mr. Kelly asked if the resolution referred to the children of tradesmen with £4 to £8 a week, or only to the children of necessitous parents. It would cost a great deal, he said, to supply the children of all working men, some of whom earned a very decent wage.

Mr. O'Sullivan said that he would go for the whole demand of free school books as part of the free education of the country.

Mr. Kelly—Then you will not get it.

The resolution was passed without opposition.

Mr. Belton complained that luncheons were being supplied at the Cattle Market which consisted of tinned "bully beef" from the Argentine. There was an hotel close by which provided decent luncheons of Irish meat, and if there was to be competition it should be on an equal basis.

The City Manager said that surely Mr. Belton could not speak in this connection of competition. The food supplied at the market was only in the form of snacks. The people supplying the luncheons would not use much beef, and there was no place where they could get tinned beef in Ireland.

Mr. Cogan interjected a remark that a firm in Waterford were making tinned beef.

The City Manager promised to investigate.

Lively exchanges occurred on the subject of Fianna Fáil representation on committees when candidates were nominated for the election of a representative on the Dublin Board of Assistance in the place of Alderman Medlar, who was proposed for re-election.

Alderman C. Breathnach, T.D., proposed the name of Mr. D. Healy. He pointed out that Fianna Fail had no representation at present.

Mr. Breathnach was appealed to by the Lord Mayor and Mr. J. J. Byrne to withdraw the nomination, on the ground that the vacancy was not an ordinary one and should revert to the group which formerly held it. Mr. Breathnach replied that in the circumstances he must ignore the appeal.

Mr. M. O'Sullivan said that he would have made an appeal to Mr. Breathnach, but that he saw it would be useless. He intended to vote for Mr. Medlar, in view of the principle involved, but he protested against the manner in which Fianna Fail were deprived of representation at the last election.

Mr. Medlar was re-elected by 19 votes to 11.

Messrs. W. J. O'Hare and J. J. Moore were elected to fill vacancies on the Dublin Port and Docks Board, created by the disqualification of Messrs. John Ryan and James Larkin, senior.

"JAZZ" AGAIN.

A letter from the secretary of the Gaelic League asked the Council to endorse the League's protest against the broadcasting of "jazz" from Free State stations, on the ground that "jazz" was contrary to the spirit of Christianity and nationality.

Mrs. M. Walsh proposed, and Mr. J. Cahill seconded, that the letter be marked "read."

The Lord Mayor said that there was no "jazz" in Dublin. Surely they would not call the old valse or the valetta "jazz?"

Alderman C. Breathnach, T.D., moved that the letter be approved, and Mr. P. Belton, T.D., laughingly seconded.

Mr. D. Healy declared that Dublin citizens were "following the dances of the negroes."

The Lord Mayor indignantly challenged Mr. Healy to go into a Dublin dance hall and point to any one dance which "followed the negroes. It is unfair to Dublin citizens," he exclaimed.

Senator Mrs. Clarke remarked that as "jazz" broadcasts had been stopped she did not see the necessity for the circular.

Asking: "What exactly is jazz," Mr. M. O'Sullivan suggested that they might have a demonstration. (Laughter.)

The letter was marked "noted."

The ban on street-trading in Henry street was referred to by Mr. Kelly, who urged that an effort be made to have the girls and women back again selling fruit and flowers. He did not think that anyone would object.

Dr. C. Murphy—I object.

Mr. Kelly—We will easily sit on you. You are a member of our party. (Laughter.)

Mrs. Maud Walsh described the suggestion as retrograde.

The City Manager said that the Minister for Justice had already made an order prohibiting all street-trading.

Mr. Kelly—I understand that the Minister will do whatever the Corporation asks.

The City Manager replied that, on the contrary, the Minister had said that he could not allow partial street-trading. It must be either all or none.

Votes of condolence were passed with Dr. Myles Keogh, the Deputy Lord Mayor, on the death of his wife; with Mr. W. T. Cosgrave, T.D., on the death of his mother; with the relatives of Mr. Joseph Devlin, and with Mr. John Ryan, on the death of his wife.

KILKEEL MAN'S WILLS.

£15,000 ESTATE INVOLVED.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Monday.

Two wills made by the late Mr. Robert Nicholson, J.P., potato merchant, Kilkeel, Co. Down, were the subject of a probate action in the King's Bench (Probate Division), Belfast, to-day, before the Lord Chief Justice.

The widow of the deceased man, Mrs. Janey Nicholson, Manse road, Kilkeel, sought to establish a will dated September 7, 1930, and named as defendants Alexander Fisher, solicitor, Newry, and William John Annett, potato merchant and auctioneer, executors of a late will made on May 10, 1933.

The defendants sought to establish the will of May 10, 1933, which, they said, revoked the earlier will.

The principal difference in the two wills was that the deceased man left his widow by the earlier will four houses for life and one absolutely, and in the last will four houses for life only.

The case had been listed for hearing before a special jury but this was dispensed with, and the defendants proceeded to prove the will of May 10, 1933.

After evidence had been given by Mr. Alexander Fisher, solicitor, one of the defendants, and Dr F Floyd, Kilkeel, who witnessed the will, as to its due execution, counsel for the widow withdrew opposition to the will of May 10 1933, and it was admitted to probate, all the parties to have their costs out of the estate.

UNEMPLOYED DECREASE.

DROP OF 8,220 IN YEAR.

The latest figures for Northern Ireland show that on the 22nd January, 1934, as compared with January, 1933, there was an increase of 7,250 in employment and a decrease of 8,220 in the number of persons registered for work. The following are the details:—22nd January, 1934, 181,500 employed, 68,139 unemployed; January, 1933, 174,250 employed, 76,360 unemployed.

Since the 18th December, 1933, there has been the usual seasonal decline in employment in the tailoring and dress, building, linen and distributive trade groups, with a resultant increase in the number of persons registered for employment of 1,417 men and boys and 3,335 women and girls.

On the other hand, improved employment was again recorded in the shipbuilding industry.

ACCIDENT TO BELFAST SHIP CAPTAIN.

Captain Robert Shearer, a native of Portrush, and in command of Messrs. John Kelly's collier Blacksod, at present undergoing repairs at Belfast, met with a serious accident. On Saturday evening the captain announced his intention of paying a visit to Bangor. Nothing further was seen of him during the day, and the engineer, naturally, thought that he had carried out his intention.

Yesterday morning, however, when his cabin was entered, the captain was found lying on the floor in a helpless condition, and it then transpired that he had fallen on Saturday and seriously injured himself.

He was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where it was discovered that he was suffering from a fractured pelvis. He is detained in the institution.

SELLING POISONS.

Remarking that it was a very flagrant case, Mr. P. J. O'Donoghue, R.M., at the Belfast Summons Court yesterday, imposed a fine of £5 on Thomas Scott, trading as Scott's Cash Stores, 331 York street, for selling poisons, he not being a registered chemist.

David Moffatt, Government Pharmacy Inspector, said that Scott had no qualifications whatever to trade as a chemist. On January 2 witness went to Scott's shop and asked for a bottle of Alophen Pills. The shop assistant supplied it without demur and charged him 1s. 9d. Alophen, said the witness, was a most dangerous poison, containing over .2 per cent. of strychnine.

Defendant said the bottle sold to the inspector was the only bottle of Alophen he had in stock at the time.

Dr. Mills—That shows you are doing a big business in poisons. You were actually run out to one bottle.

Defendant—No; I happened to have it for one particular customer.

FOR HEAVY 'BUS TRAFFIC.

SUGGESTED TERMINUS AT PARKGATE STREET.

A general omnibus stop in Parkgate street, Dublin—no heavy passenger vehicle to be permitted to proceed farther in the direction of the city centre—was one of the subjects discussed between a deputation from the United Traders' Development Association (North Dublin) and Mr. R. D. Griffith, manager of the omnibus department of the Great Southern Railway. The deputation yesterday reported that Mr. Griffith had promised to submit the proposal to the police, and to ask for their co-operation.

LATE ARCHDEACON MURPHY.

DUN LAOGHAIRE COUNCIL'S TRIBUTE.

As a mark of respect to the memory of the late Venerable Archdeacon Murphy, the Dún Laoghaire Borough Corporation adjourned its quarterly meeting last night until next Thursday.

Mr. E. C. Smith, Chairman, in moving the adjournment of the meeting, said that the late Venerable Archdeacon Murphy was a great loss to the district, and his place would be difficult to fill. He had endeared himself to all of them of every creed and class, and took a special interest in the children. It was, therefore, but right that they should pay a tribute to his memory by adjourning that meeting, although there was important business on the agenda.

Mr. F. Bently, as one who was not a member of the late Archdeacon Murphy's flock, seconded the motion, and said that during the time he had known the late Archdeacon he found him to be a man whom it would be difficult to replace.

Mr. William Rollins, as a workers' representative, supported the motion.

Mr. P. White, Mr. E. J. Mallins, Mr George Dixon and Mr. J. P. Dooge also associated themselves with the motion, which was passed, all present standing.

TRADE UNION AFFAIRS.

SEQUEL TO CITY DISPUTE.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

A MEETING of representatives of the trade unions whose headquarters are outside of the Irish Free State will be held in Dublin on February 16 under the auspices of the Irish Trade Union Congress. This meeting has been called to give effect to the decision of the National Executive of the Congress to consult all affiliated cross-Channel unions and branches of unions regarding the desire of certain sections within these unions to control their own trade union affairs from within their own country.

It will be remembered that this decision was taken as a result of the dispute between the Amalgamated Transport and General Workers' Union and the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union regarding the employés of the Dublin United Tramways Company.

Mr. E. Lynch, Secretary to the Congress, has announced the appointment of Mr. Dawson Gordon, Belfast Trades and Labour Council, as Northern representative of the National Executive of the Congress on the Irish Railway Wages' Board. The vacancy on the Board arose through the death of Mr. David Campbell, Belfast.

NATIONAL EXECUTIVE.

The last meeting of the National Executive accepted with regret the resignation of Mr. Luke Duffy from the treasurership. Mr. Duffy tendered his resignation under the rules of the Irish Trade Union Congress and of the Irish Labour Party, in which it is laid down that an official of one body cannot also be an official of the other. Mr. Duffy has lately been appointed Secretary to the Irish Labour Party.

The meeting appointed Mr. Sean P. Campbell, Treasurer, Dublin Typographical Provident Society, to the vacant office, and co-opted Councillor James Casey, Limerick Trades and Labour Council, to take the place formerly occupied on the Executive by Mr. Campbell.

THE ANNUAL CONGRESS.

At this meeting the question of the venue of the next annual congress arose. A number of possible venues were discussed, and the choice was finally narrowed down to Galway and Kilkenny. Investigations are to be made regarding the possibilities of holding the meeting in Galway.

The meeting had under consideration the Local Services (Economies) Bill, 1933, which will affect the salaries of the members of the Vocational Education Officers' Organisation, an affiliated body. It was agreed to take up the matter with the organisation, and to make representations to the Irish Labour Party regarding the bill.

A draft constitution for the General Council of Trades Councils, prepared by Messrs. E. Lynch and P. T. Daly, was discussed, and it was decided to submit it to the affiliated Councils and to invite their comments.

REQUEST TO MINISTRY.

In regard to the request of the National Executive of the Congress to the Free State Department of Industry and Commerce that, in view of the important nature of the work to be performed, the Minister should agree that, as hitherto, the delegates to the International Labour Conference should be accompanied by advisers, a reply was received and considered.

It will be remembered that the National Executive stated that if it did not receive satisfaction in this matter it would seriously consider refusing to accept representation at the forthcoming International Labour Conference.

The reply was to the effect that the views of the National Executive will be carefully considered when the question of the appointment of delegates and advisers to the eighteenth session arises. A further communication will be addressed to the Irish Trade Union Congress on the subject.

"HAY FEVER."

PRO-ARTE STRING QUARTET.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY RECITAL.

The recitals at the Royal Dublin Society's premises, Ballsbridge, yesterday were given by the Pro-Arte String Quartet—A. Onnou, first violin; G. Prevost, second violin; L. Halleux, viola, and R. Maas, 'cello. The group had already been heard at these recitals. In their programme yesterday they did much to enhance their reputation. Although occasionally somewhat heavy, the ensemble was splendid, the different instruments being easily identified and none of them obtruding beyond the demands made by the composers. The tone throughout was good, and on the whole well in tune, though occasionally there was just a suspicion about the first violin.

There was a lovely atmosphere about their treatment of the Mozart Quartet in E flat major. The composition is of the Salzburg period, about 1783, when Mozart, after an interval of some nine years, turned again to this form of composition. It is, too, one of the six quartets which he decidated to Haydn after that composer had been on a visit to him. The Pro-Arte players gave a fine reading of the work. There was that fresh singing quality about the movement that one looks for in this composer. His mastery of the form was evident from the fascinating manner in which the different instruments carried the dialogue throughout. The Andante movement was beautiful in its colouring; the opening phrases were delightful, with the 'cello providing a lovely round bass like a rich pedal stop. There was also a rare delicacy of movement about the Minuetto. One also liked the rhythmic treatment of the concluding movement.

It was a capital idea to place the Borodine Quartet, No. 2, in D major, in the middle of the recital. Borodine was one of the Russian composers of the middle of the last century, whose work had as much influence on musical development as had Tchekov on literature. His Quartet, which is somewhat familiar at these recitals, is immensely interesting, and listening to its performance one's mind is inevitably directed to the immense resources of Russia. Borodine has caught innumerable threads from this vast field and woven them into a delightful work. It is set with splendid understanding of the quartet form, the ensembles are well chorded, and in turn the instruments are allowed opportunity for individual expression. All four movements were full of atmosphere, but outstanding was the exquisite Notturno. The 'cello solo was a lovely bit of singing, with a beautiful rhythm, before the quartet swept on to the development of a movement with a haunting exotic charm.

Concluding the afternoon recital was the Beethoven Quartet in E minor (The Rasoumoffsky). It was treated with admirable appreciation of the work in which the composer revealed his wonderful mastery of this form of chamber music. The Molto Adagio movement, with its lengthy reiteration, was always interesting. The Scherzo showed that humorous touch so characteristic, and the Finale was noteworthy for the fascinating use of the scale passages.

ROME AND THE TOURIST.

LECTURE BY MISS O. PURSER.

"Rome and the Tourist, 1933," was the subject of a lecture by Miss O. Purser, M.A., delivered yesterday in the Graduates' Memorial Building, Trinity College, Dublin, under the auspices of the Dublin University Women Students' Bursary Fund for Distressed Ladies.

Dr. Goligher, F.T.C.D., presided. There was a large audience.

Miss Purser, in the course of her lecture, which was illustrated with interesting lantern slides, said that the first and most lasting impression of Rome was its setting of extreme natural beauty. She had been impressed by the good looks and the good humour of the people. In all its grandeur and the enormous scale of the Roman buildings, both pagan and Christian there were open spaces everywhere in which the poor could enjoy the sun. There were some five hundred churches in Rome, and at least a hundred of them presented objects of special interest. The Italian State had devoted time, energy and money to what in other countries was left to private enterprise and to scholars of meagre resources. One could not but realise the continuity of life and history in Rome.

Referring to tourist experiences, the lecturer said that prices in Italy for imported articles were always very dear. Sugar ran to a shilling per lb., tea 10s. per lb., and coffee, which was a favourite drink with Italians, was up to 3s. 6d. per lb. On the other hand, home commodities, such as cheese and bread, were moderate in price, while wine was ridiculously cheap. One could get a litre of wine, she did not know of what quality, for the same price as was paid for a banana.

The lecturer said that the newspapers in Rome were colourless and filled up with Government speeches. The popular reading seemed to consist of translations of French and English novels, and the most popular author appeared to be Mr. P. G. Wodehouse.

NEED OF COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

BALROTHERY BOARD'S PROPOSAL.

At a meeting of the Balrothery Board of Assistance yesterday a letter was received from the engineer, Mr. F. P. Russell, in regard to the proposed building of a cottage hospital in the district. He suggested that a meeting should be called of district medical officers to look into the whole question.

Councillor P. J. Fogarty said that the meeting should be held jointly with the Board. He thought that they should be able to get a grant for a hospital, such as had been given in other cases. The scheme would be a saving to the ratepayers, especially if they were able to get assistance from the sweepstakes. They should get together and prepare a scheme at once, and tell the Minister that a district hospital was needed in North County Dublin.

The Chairman, Mr. H. M. Dardis, said that such a hospital was certainly needed. The Dublin hospitals were overcrowded, and he knew cases where it had not been possible to deal quickly with patients from outside the city.

Mr. Fogarty—That is happening every day of the week.

The engineer's suggestion was agreed to.

THE GAELIC PLAYERS.

That light comedy is the strong suit of the Gaelic Players was again demonstrated at the Gate Theatre, Dublin, last night. The piece chosen for this, the last appearance of the company in this house, was the Quinteros' "Il Centenario," in Tomás O hEighneacháin's racy and spirited translation. It fitted excellently these players' special qualities, and was given a performance which must be counted amongst the best five or six to An Combar's credit.

Only on a few previous occasions has the cast been so well balanced, and only the most fastidious judgment would find fault with any of the players. Judging by this performance, and by that of "Diarmuid agus Gráinne," it may be ungrudgingly admitted that An Comhar has now been successful in getting together a trained and disciplined band, which has become a real acting company. For that achievement it would be idle to deny the responsibility of the company's association with the Gate Theatre and the skilful production and tutoring of Mícheál Mac Liammhóir.

The honours of the performance go to Gearóid O Lochlainn, in the title part. He was in every sense an admirable "Papa Juan." Cearbhall Mac Cuiseog's "Tríno" was scarcely a whit less satisfying, even if he sometimes echoed one of the Gate Theatre leading actors. Donnchadh O Céileachabhair, as "Don Evaristo," played better than we have seen him do recently. Caitlín Ní Bhric's "Dona Filoména" was near to the virago of the author's conception, and if she dominated amongst the women that was not due to any inferior acting of the parts of "Curríta" by Máire Ní Oisín and of "Dona Marciala" by Máire Ní Shíothcháin. Other rôles were taken by Doiris Nic Fhinn, Bláthnaid Ní Loingsigh, Niamh Nic Gearailé, Tadhg O Scanaill, Séamus O hEaluithe, and Padráig O Broithe.

The company's next performance is to be given at the Peacock.

The Free State Ministers for Education, Defence and Agriculture were present.

DR. DOLLFUSS'S NEW POWER.

LEAGUE APPEAL OR OTHER ACTION.

AUSTRIA'S INTERNAL PROBLEMS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Monday.

THE dispute between Austria and Germany took an important turn to-day, when the Austrian Cabinet empowered Dr. Dollfuss to bring the dispute between the two countries before the League of Nations.

The communiqué indicates that the Cabinet has empowered Dr. Dollfuss to take steps to bring the matter before the League of Nations, but it leaves the questions of date and method to his personal decision. It is, therefore, possible that the Chancellor may take other action.

The matter cannot be regarded as having reached a decisive stage until it is seen what steps Dr. Dollfuss will actually take. In some circles here it is thought that the Chancellor, instead of bringing the dispute before the League, will bring it before the Powers, particularly the signatories of the Four-Power Pact.

GROUNDS OF APPEAL.

The question of a possible appeal to the League will not be decided for some days—namely, until Dr. Dollfuss's return from his visit to Budapest, says Reuter's Geneva Correspondent. It is understood, the correspondent adds, that any Austrian appeal to Geneva would be based on paragraph two of Article Eleven, and, though it does not stipulate an immediate convocation of the Council, it is felt in League quarters that the Council would have to be convened because it would be undesirable to wait till the next regular session in May.

Paragraph 2 of Article 11 states:—"It is also declared to be the friendly right of each member of the League to bring to the attention of the Assembly or of the Council any circumstance whatever affecting international relations which threatens to disturb international peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends."

The fact, however, that Dr. Dollfuss has successfully weathered January 30th, the first anniversary of the Hitler Chancellorship, which was to have been signalised by a special effort of Nazi propaganda in Austria, may encourage Dr. Dollfuss to postpone use of his new power indefinitely.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE.

Reuter understands that throughout the visits which the Austrian Minister, Baron Franckenstein, has been paying to the Foreign Office the British Government has in no sense acted in an advisory capacity. The view that the dispute is purely an internal Austrian affair has never been relaxed.

Meanwhile a troubled situation has arisen in Tyrol, following friction between the local Heimwehr and the provincial administration.

The latest move of the Tyrolese Heimwehr has been to induce the Governor to accept the appointment of an "advisory committee" at the headquarters of the Provincial Government.

After telephonic conversations with the principal political leaders in Innsbruck in order to test the general feeling, Dr. Dollfuss to-night invited the Governor of Tyrol and representatives of the individual parties to meet him in Vienna after his return from his visit to Budapest on Friday.

CINE-VARIETY AT THE THEATRE ROYAL.

Zaharoff and his band form the principal feature of the cine-variety show at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, this week. Each member of the band wears the distinctive costume of one of the nations of the world, and during an "International Medley" of tunes each gives a solo instrumental rendering of some tune appropriate to the country he or she represents. The band has plenty of life and its paraphrasing of classical tunes and the martial medley are particularly good.

The supporting variety numbers are also quite entertaining, the best being Sam Barton, who is described as "almost riding a bicycle," and is very amusing in his efforts to ride one of the strangest of bicycles. The Balzer Sisters have a good novelty aerial act, while Stan Pell and Stan Little and Jean Kennedy also contribute to the programme.

The film attraction, "Frisco Jenny," has Ruth Chatteton in the leading rôle, as a mother who surrenders her child in order that he made have the advantages of wealth and education which she is unable to provide for him. It is a modernised version of the old story of mother love, but Ruth Chatterton's acting prevents it from becoming too banal.

PLAINSONG LECTURES.

Psalmody, its history and practical application, formed the principal theme of Mr. Hubert Rooney's lecture at the Royal Irish Academy of Music, Dublin, last night. From its origin in the Jewish Synagogue, through the days of St. Athanasius and St. Ambrose to the middle ages when plainsong declined, the lecturer traced the story of the Psalm, paying a special tribute to the work of the Benedictines who had preserved tradition in a marvellous way in their various abbeys. It was necessary to have a clear understanding of the musical technique of Psalmody before congregations could be expected to join effectively in the services of Vespers and Compline, and here again one felt the want for simple and concise instruction for the people such as was now being given in various cities, notably in Liverpool, where regular classes were being continuously held and priests and professional musicians were collaborating in instructing the people in the Chant.

LISTOWEL CASE ADJOURNED.

At the Listowel Court, before District Justice Kenny, Messrs. J. M. Slattery and Sons, bacon curers, Tralee, applied for an order under the Enforcement of Court Orders Act for payment of the sum of £111 4s. due by J. H. Daly, Lixnaw, on foot of a judgment of the Circuit Court dated 23rd June, 1933.

Mr. T. J. Clarke, solicitor, appeared for the applicant, and Mr. R. A. Macaulay for the defendant.

Mr. Macaulay stated that the defendant was a creamery manager, and that there was no question in regard to his capacity to pay the amount, and applied that the case be adjourned for a fortnight. He informed the justice that if the matter was not settled in the meantime there would be no objection to an order being made for payment of the full amount at once.

GAIETY THEATRE.

"ALICE IN WONDERLAND."

THE fairest comment one can make on the stage version of "Alice in Wonderland" which Cora Goffin presents with her own company at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, this week is that in this musical setting the author, Emile Littler, has done as well as anybody might hope to do in re-creating Lewis Carroll's immortal master piece. One had opportunity recently to see a film version of the tale, and when due allowance has been made for the wonderful mechanical facilities available for use in screen productions one can truthfully say that the production at the Gaiety Theatre can stand the comparison. Not, indeed, that either one or the other does justice to the story, but for children who can view this presentation there is quite a lot to excite enthusiasm in this Gaiety setting. The story is fairly well maintained, and the children present last night followed with wide-open wonder the adventures of Alice in this wonderland, into which she ventured through the rabbit hole. There was the funny White Rabbit as fussy as possible running to the Duchess. And they saw Alice find the key to the magic little house, and then the bottle with the magic liquid which doubled her up and made her so small. And then such adventures as she had in Wonderland meeting the Caterpillar, perched up on the toadstool, and the Duchess in her kitchen. What fun they had there with the Cook and the Pepper, and the Cheshire Cat with his funny ways. Then there was the queerest tea party in the world with the Mad Hatter and the March Hare, and the Dormouse that could not keep awake. Other adventures included Alice's meeting on the croquet ground with the Queen of Hearts, who wanted everybody's head off, and she had quite an exciting time with the Mock Turtle, and received some advice on finding the moral from the Duchess.

The trial of the Knave of Hearts concluded a capital first act. The second act was devoted to Alice's adventures through a looking glass, in which one was introduced to the live flowers, Tweedledum and Tweedledee, Humpty-Dumpty, and the Lion and the Unicorn, not to mention the Red and White Queens. It was all very admirably told, and made a brave attempt, indeed, to recapture the great story.

The staging was extremely clever. Some of the effects were very ingenious, and the scenery, with its vivid colours and lighting, helped to stir the imagination. Some of the drop curtains were works of art—that portraying the cabbage with its amazing collection of grubs, for instance, was very realistic. The looking-glass scene also was exceedingly cleverly done. The dressing also was capital.

Curigwen Lewis, who played the part of Alice, looked and acted as if she had walked clean out of the pages of the book. She was perfectly natural in everything she said or did. Unspoiled, she wandered through this wonderland as Alice does in the book.

There is a huge cast, and in fairness it can be said that all of them carried their parts well.

The familiar old songs were nicely treated. It is a show which all young people should take opportunity to see.

ABBEY THEATRE

"THE MARRIAGE PACKET," BY ARTHUR POWER.

Oona King	Eileen Crowe.
Ganger Joyce	P. J. Carolan.
Simon Cavanagh	Denis O'Dea.
Festus King	Michael J. Dolan.

One can trace the ancestry of "The Marriage Packet" (which is being produced this week at the Abbey Theatre) back to Synge and Dion Boucicault, but the family resemblance is more noticeable on the Boucicault side. As regards Synge, it derives from his peasant dramas, which were so fresh at the beginning of the century, and which, as a result of constant imitation, are not quite so fresh now. The setting of "The Marriage Packet" is the hills of Western Ireland, the people are the peasants, the action concerns itself with the miseries of a daughter who is virtually sold off to a man she does not love, and the dialogue combines metaphor and familiarity according to the Synge formula. We have met with all the ingredients before, and, no doubt, we shall meet with them again.

The melodrama comes in with the plot, and with its treatment. Oona King's father bargains away his daughter to the dissolute Ganger Joyce, and secures her unwilling compliance in the match by threatening to turn her insane mother out of the house if she does not agree. One can appreciate the daughter's point of view; for it soon turns out that the Joyce ménage is one that is by no means suitable for any young girl. The atmosphere is one of unrelieved gloom; for when Joyce is not drinking or poaching he is ill-treating Oona for apparently no reason at all, a procedure which is followed by old Mrs. Joyce, and even by the servant girl. Tired of this life, Oona decides to run away with her first love, Simon Cavanagh, but they are betrayed to Joyce by one of a band of tinkers with whom they have taken refuge. Joyce and Oona's father come up with them, high words ensue, and the curtain descends on a scene of almost Elizabethan carnage—two deaths before the audience and another one about to take place off-stage.

The play has merits, though the plot itself has few; the theme being unoriginal and the treatment too highly coloured. The dialogue is easy and unforced, and the speech of the peasants, especially in the first act, is very natural. The last act opened in the tinker's camp, and, although the action here had very little to do with the main plot, this was the best part of the play, and showed that Mr. Arthur Power, the author, has considerable gifts in the line of comedy.

Eileen Crowe, as Oona King, had a part that gave her a good deal of scope for acting, and she suited it well. The same remarks can be applied to Denis O'Dea, while Michael J. Dolan, P. J. Carolan, Maureen Delany, F. J. McCormick, and Christine Hayden were quite satisfactory.

OLYMPIA THEATRE.

One of the cleverest series of illusions seen in Dublin for a considerable time was that presented in the Olympia Theatre, Dublin, last night by Levante, the man who was handcuffed, leg-ironed, chained, and who freed himself after having jumped from Lambeth Bridge into the Thames. These illusions were varied, and numbered many unusual and surprising items, some of them carried out with great rapidity. Levante received loud applause, and deserved it. In "Fiddling Around the World," D. F. Burt and Syd Clarke were a very amusing pair, who made plenty of fun with their violins; and Con Kenna and Pilot, in "Skylarking," were another comedy couple who kept the audiences laughing. Pretoria, described as a shadowist, produced a number of humorous silhouettes, while a further comic piece was provided by Stan Craig. Bob Lloyd and Betty Hill appeared in "a new kind of nonsense." Frank and Bob harmonised well in their singing, with piano accompaniment. Roxby and Fyldes were excellent dancers.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.

The stage attraction at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin, this week, "Among the Heather," a revue with a Scottish setting, proved popular with a large audience last night, and gave the well-known comedians, Bex and Bex, numerous opportunities to raise laughter. Also in the cast are Sheila Brody and Bernard Steel—well-known to Dublin audiences—and the Three Finches, described as "birds who entertain." A musical selection was played by Alex. C. Fryer and his band, and the twelve Queen's Moonbeams appeared in a pretty dance scena. On the screen, "Hold Me Tight," with James Dunn and Sally Eilers in the leading rôle, depicts the tribulations of a newly-married couple who fall on lean days.

BELFAST CLERGYMAN'S EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Alexander Connolly, of Glengormley, Belfast, had a peculiar experience on Sunday morning. He was awakened by repeated knocking at his door, and found two respectably-dressed men on the doorstep. They asked him to go out to see a sick person "on the hill."

The Rev. Mr. Connolly was rather suspicious of the call, and was questioning the men still further, when one of them suddenly gave him the order: "Hands up." Instead of obeying he promptly slammed the door and the men then hurried to a motor car which was waiting and drove off.

The attempted raid is inexplicable so far as motive is concerned. The police are making investigations.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1934.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The Free State Government, under the Control of Imports Bill, takes powers to regulate imports into the Free State by the imposition of quotas in respect of any particular goods.—(Page 9.)

At last night's meeting of the Dublin Corporation resolutions were passed calling for free school books for primary school children, and protesting against the "cuts" in the salaries of the Council's officials under the Local Services (Temporary Economies) (No. 2) Bill.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

The House of Commons last night continued the discussion of the Unemployment Bill in Committee.—(Page 7.)

The British Post Office net surplus for the year 1932-33 is £11,055,717, nearly half a million more than that for 1931-32.—(Page 8.)

The Admiralty last night announced that the order for the building of H.M.S. cruiser Penelope has been placed with Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Belfast. It is understood that the contract will involve an expenditure of about £1,000,000 in Belfast, and that the work of construction will take from two to three years.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

Serious disorders are feared in Paris today, when M. Daladier's new Government faces Parliament. Troops have been confined to barracks.—(Page 7.)

Prince George received a tumultuous welcome on his arrival at Cape Town for a tour of South Africa.—(Page 7.)

The United States Government is in danger of being involved in a "scandal" similar to that which besmirched the Harding régime.—(Page 7.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were firm, but Gold shares were subdued. Some Industrials were strong.—(Page 3.)

Gold rose to 140s. per oz. fine, the highest price yet recorded. £1,540,000 was in the market, and was taken chiefly for America. Loan and discount rates were steady.—(Page 3.)

SPORTING

At Warwick yesterday Inniskeen won the Chandler Handicap Steeplechase.—(Page 10.)

A Tin Sword.

President de Valera has brought forth yet another weapon from his diminishing armoury in the form of the Control of Imports Bill. The new bill is at once a challenge to foreign countries and a counterblast to the British quotas on Free State cattle. Manifestly it is designed for two purposes—as a medium of bargaining for Mr. de Valera's "alternative markets" and as a further stroke in the "economic war" with Britain. The details of the bill are tortuous, but the general plan is clear. In brief, it will apply a quota system, at the discretion of the Executive Council, to any class of goods imported into the Free State. The Government may prohibit the importation of a particular class of goods from a specified time, except under licence, and may direct the licensees to take a certain portion of their quota of such goods from a particular country. This is, more or less, the principle on which a quota system is worked in any land; and, as other Governments have found difficulty in its administration, so, we may assume, Mr. de Valera's Government will find difficulty. The real trouble, however, about this latest measure is that it is merely a makeshift, dragged into being to save Mr. de Valera's face.

Armed with his new powers, Mr. de Valera can say to Germany or the United States or Belgium, as the case may be: "The Free State proposes to import precisely 500,000 tons of coal during the period beginning next April. If you are willing to accept such and such a number of head of cattle from us, we shall allow you to send 200,000 of those 500,000 tons. If you refuse, the Free State cannot accept any coal from you." Whether these, or any, foreign countries will accept the ultimatum remains to be learned; but Mr. de Valera is an incurable optimist, and sees the tariff walls of the world falling before the noise of his trumpet. Every share of every quota allotted to a foreign country will mean that so much less can be allotted to Great Britain. If the Free State should decide to import only 500,000 tons of coal in six months, and should accept 200,000 tons of that quantity from Germany, 100,000 from the United States, and 100,000 from Poland, then the British mines can have no share but the remaining 100,000 tons. In such circumstances, says Mr. de Valera, Britain will come to heel with speed. She will remit her restrictions on Irish fat cattle in exchange for better terms in the Free State market.

Does Mr. de Valera really think that he will induce foreign countries to buy goods from the Free State? Britain, of course, has shown that she can do very well without the Free State market. If Mr. de Valera contrives to make any bargains at all with other countries, we can be assured that they will be very bad bargains, and that, in the long run, the Free State will be forced to take cap in hand and to sue for the British market. Only two years ago the Free State bought and sold with Britain on a basis of perfect equality. She was an honoured customer and an honoured vendor, and the alliance was profitable to both countries. Mr. de Valera's Government, however, has reduced her to the position of a street-hawker questing for patronage before every comer. She is forced to beg from door to door, and receives snubs everywhere. If the nations outside the British Empire wished to buy her goods, or thought trade relations with her worth possession, they would have signed an agreement with her at any time during the past two years. Mr. de Valera's makeshift efforts to repair the ruin caused by his "economic war" have brought the derision of Europe and America upon his country. Will he not realise that the path to an honourable settlement, by which the Free State may regain her old position of pride and equality, is still open?

Russia and Japan.

In all the discussions that are taking place on the subject of disarmament little mention ever is made of Russia. Yet since the invasion of the Ukraine by the Poles, some twelve years ago, the Russians have been developing their military organisation. During recent months the problem of Soviet Russia's military strength has been growing in importance in view of the dispute between the Soviets and Japan in respect of the Chinese Eastern Railway. This line, which runs through Manchuria, is owned by the Russians. Recently they offered to sell it to Japan; but the price was too high, and, when the Russians refused to reduce their figure, the Japanese decided to stop all traffic through Manchuria. This action was interpreted by Moscow as a deliberate challenge. Since that time "incidents" between the two nations have been multiplied, and the situation at the moment is far from satisfactory. In his annual report to the Communist Congress on the Soviet's military preparations, M. Voroshiloff, the Commissar for War, has just uttered a solemn warning to Japan. "War against us," he declares, "will be a long and hard war. It will cost those who start it dear." The Japanese, he continues, are prepared to stake everything on a single throw of the dice, but during the last two years M. Stalin and his Central Committee have been devoting their entire attention to the reinforcement of the Far Eastern Army. The Red Army, according to M. Voroshiloff, is now the most highly "mechanised" force in the world. In 1929 its horse-power per man was 2.6; now it is 7.74, thus exceeding the "mechanisation" of the British Army, which hitherto has been higher than that of any other force. According to German computations, the Red Army's peace strength is 1,200,000 men, and it can be increased in time of war to 7,000,000. It has 578 tanks, 675 big guns, and 2,000 fighting aeroplanes. M. Voroshiloff admits that the Russian Navy, although it has been strengthened and improved, hardly could tackle Japan, because it has no ships of the line and no aircraft-carriers. He insists, however, that Russia has no desire to attack anybody, and that her sole care is to defend herself. Be that as it may, the Soviet's forces, which are subject to no international agreements, constitute an important factor in world politics, and cannot be left out of account by those nations which are advocating general disarmament.

Challenge to Faith.

The National Socialist Party in Germany has flung a new challenge at the Christian Churches. It has appointed Herr Alfred Rosenberg as supervisor of the Party's "entire intellectual and philosophical schooling." In other words, as the Berlin Correspondent of The Times tells us, Herr Rosenberg henceforward will mould the minds of the 2,500,000 Storm Troopers, and of the millions of "Hitler Youth" who, as a result of the Reich Primate's recent command, have absorbed the juvenile Church organisation, with its 700,000 members. The man to whom such vast responsibility has been entrusted is the author of "Mythology of the Twentieth Century"—the Bible of Germany's new "Aryanism." In this book Dr. Rosenberg advocates openly the heathenising, or "Wagnerising," of German Christianity. He would abolish the crucifix, which he regards as an unsuitable emblem for Teutonic heroes. "The religion of Jesus," he says, "was undoubtedly the preaching of love"; but a national Church in Germany "must subordinate the ideal of neighbourly love to the ideal of national honour." Christianity, Dr. Rosenberg maintains, "owes its enduring values to the Germanic character," and "in the churches handed over to it a German Church will, little by little, put the fiery spirit, the hero in the highest sense, in the place of the Crucifixion." Hitherto Herr Hitler has seemed to be neutral between the "Aryan" extremists and the evangelicals, but Herr Rosenberg's appointment indicates that the State proposes to enforce the extremist creed on all Germans. This challenge to German Christianity — Protestant and Roman Catholic alike—has a tremendous significance for mankind. It will be resisted fiercely in Germany. The faith and courage of the six thousand Protestant pastors remain unshaken; and at his investiture last week Dr. Bares, the new Roman Catholic Bishop of Berlin, laid particular stress on his loyalty to the Bible. We cannot believe that Herr Hitler has counted the cost of the German State's latest and wildest adventure. Faith is a deeper issue than disarmament, and a Christian world still can invoke the dreadful sanctions of spiritual interdict.

Borrowed Plumes.

Scotland's manufacturers of tartans and plaids seem to have a legitimate grievance. Surely they can lay valid claim to a monopoly of wares so nationally distinctive, so racy of the soil. The indefatigable industrialists of continental Europe, however, think otherwise. Recently the regimental band of the Black Watch visited Helsingfors, the capital of Finland. The people of Helsingfors, allured by its picturesque trappings, have rushed to deck themselves in tartans and plaids; but the Scottish manufacturers are not enjoying any particular increase of business in consequence. Switzerland and some other countries have been supplying the Finnish market with tartan goods, which, if inferior in quality, range of colour and accuracy of design to the genuine produce of Scotland, are yet sufficiently good to cheat the undiscerning eye. Perhaps, the Scottish manufacturers of tartans and plaids will seek injunctions in foreign courts, following the example of the Scottish and English distillers, who have won their case in Germany. "Whisky," the German courts have ruled, is a term for spirits peculiar to England and Scotland, and German imitations must not be sold under the attractive name. In principle the judgment may be sound, but its first premiss displays a curious want of knowledge. Is Germany so ignorant of the once famous whiskeys of the United States and Canada? Does she know nothing of "Irish," which ranks with old cognac as a co-prince of distillations?

Mrs. Susannah (or Susan) Mary Kraft, of 83 Fallowcourt avenue, Finchley, N., who died on December 1st last, widow of John Henry Kraft, left estate in England of the gross value of £21,762, with net personalty £21,691. She left £300 to the Superior of the Apostolic School, Mungret, Limerick, for the education of a student for the priesthood on the Home Mission.

GREAT BRITAIN'S UNEMPLOYED.

BIG INCREASE IN JANUARY.

An increase of 164,989 in the number of unemployed is shown in the British Ministry of Labour return for January, issued last night. This is the first substantial increase in unemployment since January of last year. Beginning with February, 1933, the official figures had shown an improvement in employment month by month. Compared with last year, however, the January figures show a reduction of 513,997.

The return mentions that a sharp rise in the birth-rate in the latter part of 1919 was responsible for an unusually large number of children reaching the school-leaving age at the end of the last quarter. The last quarter of 1919 showed an increase of 58,000 in the number of births in Great Britain compared with the previous quarter.

The increase of 164,989 in the numbers of unemployed compares with the following increases in the month of January over December in previous years:—1933, 180,000; 1932, 218,000; 1931, 185,000; 1930, 188,000; 1929, 155,000.

The Ministry of Labour states that it is estimated that at January 22, 1934, there were approximately 9,874,000 insured persons, aged 16-64, in employment in Great Britain. This was 134,000 less than a month before, but 649,000 more than a year before.

A considerable part of the decline in employment during the past month occurred in certain industries which normally show a falling off in January, including the distributive trades, tailoring, printing and book-binding, the hotel, boarding-house, road transport, dock and harbour services, and the building industry. In addition, there was a decline in employment in the cotton, woollen, and worsted and hosiery industries, and also, to some extent, in steel melting and rolling, metal goods manufacture, and the engineering industry.

At January 22 the numbers of unemployed persons on the registers of Employment Exchanges in Great Britain were 1,944,026 wholly unemployed, 355,240 temporarily stopped, and 89,802 normally in casual employment—a total of 2,389,068. This was 164,989 more than the number on the registers at December 18, 1933, but 513,997 less than the number a year before. The total on January 22, 1934, comprised 1,934,828 men, 64,952 boys, 337,173 women and 52,115 girls.

The increase over December 18, 1933, in the number of boys and girls on the registers was 44,673, as compared with 31,436 in the corresponding period a year ago. The number is larger than usual this year owing to the sharp rise in the birth-rate in the latter part of 1919.

FISHERIES COMMISSION.

SENATE AND CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

By Our Political Correspondent.

In addition to the ordinary business of the Free State Senate for to-morrow, two important motions have been put down for discussion. One of these, by Senator Miss Browne, refers to the recent appointments of Lay Commissioners under the Land Act. The text of this has already been published.

The other motion is by Senator The Macgillycuddy of the Reeks. It is in the following terms:—

"That the Seanad calls the attention of the Minister for Lands and Fisheries to the remarks, as reported in the public Press, made by the Chairman of the Inland Fisheries Commission at its meeting on the 31st ultimo, and asks the Minister to take suitable notice of the matter."

This refers to a speech made by Mr. P. Gallagher, solicitor, chairman, at the first public meeting of the Commission on Wednesday last.

THE COUNTESS OF MIDLETON.

RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF NURSING ASSOCIATION.

At the 24th annual general meeting of the Midleton, County Cork, District Nursing Association yesterday the following were unanimously re-elected for the present year:—

President, the Countess of Midleton; Chairwoman, Mrs. A. W. Rowland; Hon. Treasurers, Mrs. J. F. Healy and Miss M. Waters; Hon. Secretary, Mrs. E. F. Bennett.

The annual report, which covered a period of 18 months, showed that Nurse McLaughlin had paid 7,519 visits, whilst 276 gallons of milk had been supplied.

EARL OF ANTRIM TO MARRY.

It was learned yesterday that the young Earl of Antrim is engaged to be married to Miss Angela Sykes, youngest daughter of the late Sir Mark Sykes and the late Lady Sykes, and sister of Sir Richard Sykes, seventh Baronet, of Sledmere.

It is expected that the wedding will take place in London shortly. Both Lord Antrim and Miss Sykes are aged 22.

The Earl of Antrim succeeded to the title on the death of his father in 1932. He was appointed as a clerk in the House of Lords last year.

Lord Antrim owns estates in Northern Ireland and Scotland. Soon after he came of age he went to Denmark and gained practical experience of farming by working for some time on a farm as an ordinary labourer. His duties included the care of 120 pigs.

Miss Angela Sykes is well known as a successful sculptor. When aged only 17 she had two pieces of sculpture accepted by the Royal Academy at her first attempt.

ANCIENT SAMARIA.

A public lecture on "Ancient Samaria" will be given in the Graduates' Memorial Hall, Trinity College, on Tuesday, February 13th, at 4.45 p.m., by Dr. Jacob Weingreen, Assistant to the Professor of Hebrew. Dr. Weingreen spent three months last year at Samaria, and will give an account of the exploration of the site, which is being conducted jointly by the University of Harvard, the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and the Palestine Exploration Fund Committee.

The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides, and will be open to the public, without charge.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY COMMERCE SOCIETY.

There will be a meeting of the Dublin University Commerce and Economic Society in the Regent House, T.C.D., to-morrow. Mr. J. J. Auchmuty, Sch. (Mod.), B.A., will read a paper on "Roosevelt's Administration."

The chair will be taken at 8 p.m. by Mr. J. Orr Denby (Secretary to the American Legation).

A "ROYAL" CONCERT HALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—All music-lovers in the metropolis will surely agree that, in the present circumstances, the passing of one of Dublin's most famous theatres would constitute an outstanding misfortune in the history of music in this city. I have heard many expressing regret at the "rumour" that the Theatre Royal is to be converted into a cinema. Surely something can be done to avert such a misfortune. A petition with reference to this uncalled-for change will, I understand, shortly be available for signing in a number of Dublin music houses. Accordingly, everyone who can should make it his business to sign it.—Yours, etc.,

MICHAEL C. BEATTY.

LONDON LETTER.

THE LABOUR LEADERSHIP.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

Mr. George Lansbury is making steady progress towards recovery, and may be seen at Westminster early next month. His return will be warmly welcomed by his following; for there is much dissatisfaction at the attitude of the Labour Party's temporary leaders in the House towards Sir Stafford Cripps and his policy. Only recently the party endeavoured to secure the election of a new deputy-chairman, and a well-known man on the Labour front bench was approached and was asked to allow his name to go forward. He refused, and the proposal was dropped, with the hope that Mr. Lansbury might be back sooner than was expected. The future leadership of the party is causing not a little anxiety among moderate men who do not agree with extremists. Mr. Arthur Henderson is not regarded now as a likely candidate for the leadership, while Mr. Herbert Morrison, who is considered very capable, is not a member of Parliament, though, with Mr. Arthur Greenwood, who is a member, he has a strong following. Sir Stafford Cripps's chances are said to have been spoiled by his recent speeches.

Gold's "Record" Price.

Gold attained in London to-day the price of £7 an oz., the highest price ever recorded. About £1,500,000 of the metal were available, and there was a keen demand for shipment to the United States. The City is asking what new problems will arise when the United States is flooded with the gold that it is drawing from all quarters. Many countries will be needing gold some day. The United States most certainly will not let it go unless she should decide to practise liberal lending to foreign Powers or the considerable and continuous purchase of foreign goods. Such a course is considered to be highly problematical, since foreign loans are now being limited, and America's great need is to furnish manufactured goods for consumption by her own people.

The Budget Surplus.

The British Treasury is assured of a substantial surplus when the national balance sheet is presented to Parliament in April, and a small committee of the Cabinet will be set up to consider the best method of dealing with it. It is understood that considerable sums must be expended on defence, and another committee, comprised of experts, is reviewing the demands from the three Services. The claims of the Navy and the Air Force are likely to be large, since more aeroplanes and war vessels are regarded as imperative unless something comes of the present disarmament proposals. In the circumstances, it is unlikely that the taxpayer will receive any great remission, though possibly sixpence in the pound may be forthcoming. On the other hand, there may be an extension of allowances to the small taxpayers.

Irishmen in Great Britain.

The Home Secretary will be asked in the House of Commons on Wednesday whether he will introduce legislation to make it illegal for the citizens of the Irish Free State resident in this country to vote at parliamentary and local elections in Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

The Road Fund.

Various explanations have been made to account for the large increase in road accidents in recent years. In some quarters it is claimed that the abolition of the speed limit of twenty miles an hour is responsible for the present position, while many people assert that the roads are too congested. In the search for reasons to explain the toll of the road, attention is now being turned to the question of the maintenance of the highways. It is asserted that the increase in fatal accidents coincides with the decline in expenditure on the upkeep of the roads. The Government spends little more than one-third of the sum of £60,000,000 contributed by motor taxpayers, and it is urged that there ought to be a return to the principle that the revenue from motor vehicle licences shall be devoted to the improvement of the highways.

A New Telephone.

A "loud speaker telephone" is being developed at the Post Office Research Station, which may change the nature of the present-day telephone instrument completely. It will enable the user to speak from two yards away from the microphone, and to receive an answer over the loud speaker, exactly as if the other person were in the room. The speaker can even walk about, so long as he does not move outside the two yards' limit. Although the design is not yet finally settled, the loud speaker 'phone probably will take the form of a single small oblong box, containing a microphone and a loud speaker. Both these instruments are special, small-size, moving-coil reproducers, similar to those used in wireless sets, but with an exceptionally high performance. The main difficulty which the engineers had to overcome was "interference" between loud speaker and microphone. It was the solving of this problem which made loud speaker telephones possible. The same facilities will be available to users of loud speaker 'phones as to those who possess the ordinary type of instrument. A man will be able to sit comfortably at his desk and to chat with a friend in America or Australia without even raising his voice.

The Air Force Reserve.

The text of the bill introduced by Sir Philip Sassoon, the Under-Secretary for Air, for an extension of the annual training of men in the Air Force Reserve was issued this morning. It is stated that the present annual training of 12 days is not adequate in the case of airman pilots. The proposal is to extend the maximum period to 24 days. On the present strength of airman pilots in the Reserve the additional cost involved is £120 per annum. The bill also proposes to extend the service of observers to 24 days. Six months for the initial training of a man in flying or observer duties will be the maximum.

Potato Marketing.

Sir Basil Mayhew, the returning officer under the potato-marketing scheme, announced to-day at a meeting of the Board that registered potato-growers have decided by poll that the marketing scheme shall remain in force. Those who were in favour were 90.44 per cent. of all voting. The acreage represented by producers accepting the scheme was 90.6 per cent. of the total acreage of the voters. It was also announced that the Board has elected Captain John Mollett, of Knaresborough, as chairman of the Board, and Mr. Alexander Batchelor, of Dundee, as vice-chairman. Captain Mollett has been chairman of the Potatoes Committee of the National Farmers' Union, while Mr. Batchelor is a past President of the National Farmers' Union of Scotland.

Reptile Skins.

A somewhat curious exhibition will be held at the Imperial Institute from February 12th to March 2nd, to cover the period of the British Industries Fair. It will be a show of commercial reptile skins, and will reveal the number and rarity of snake and reptile skins now used as decorative leather, with the many uses to which they are applied. These skins continue to be in great demand for shoes and bags, but now they are being adapted for coats, hats, upholstering of furniture, and for several other purposes.

A petition written on birch bark has been forwarded to the Governor-General of Canada urging the nomination of the chief of the Huron tribe of Red Indians to the Canadian Senate.

CONTROL OF IMPORTS INTO FREE STATE.

PROVISIONS OF QUOTA SYSTEM OUTLINED.

WIDE POWERS OF THE MINISTER.

REGISTER OF IMPORTERS TO BE ESTABLISHED.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE Free State Government, under the new Control of Imports Bill, which was introduced in the Dail last week, takes powers to regulate imports into the Free State by the imposition of quotas in respect of any particular goods.

The bill is obviously intended as a reply to the British quota regulations, by which certain Free State exports to Great Britain are limited by quotas.

The Executive Council will have power to specify the country from which any goods may be imported under the quota.

The Executive Council may, by a quota Order, prohibit the importation of any particular description or descriptions of goods on or after a specified day, but not prior to the date of such Order. The Order shall specify the date on which the quota shall operate, which shall be not more than six weeks after the commencement of the Order. The period between the commencement of the Order and the operation of the quota is its "preliminary period." Provision is made for importation during this period under licence.

The Executive Council may exempt from a quota Order goods to a specified amount for the use of the importer or members of his household.

No quota Order shall apply to the importation of any goods previously manufactured in and exported from the Free State, and no quota shall be made in respect of any goods which are already prohibited from importation by law.

Every quota Order shall have statutory effect, but shall cease at the end of six months, unless, before that period expires, a resolution of approval shall have been passed by the Dail.

Whenever a quota Order has been revoked, or has ceased to have effect, the Executive Council is prohibited from making a quota Order in respect of the same, or substantially the same, description of goods. When a quota Order is in force in respect of any description of goods, it shall not be lawful to import them except under a licence.

QUOTA PERIODS.

Provision is made for the appointment of quota periods and quotas as soon as may be after the making of the quota order. These will stipulate the times of duration of the order and the quantities of goods which may be imported. Not less than fourteen days before the expiry of any quota the Executive Council shall by order appoint the period of the next quota and the quantity of goods to which the quota applies.

When making a quota order the Executive Council may, if they think fit, direct that a specified proportion of the said quota shall consist of goods manufactured in and imported from a specified country. In renewing a quota the Executive may increase it to such amount as they may think proper.

REGISTRATION.

A register of importers must be established when a quota in respect of any particular goods is made. Any person who desires to be registered will apply in the prescribed form. Such persons will have to satisfy the Minister that he is

(a) an individual who is a national of Saorstát Eireann and has a place of business in Saorstát Eireann, or

(b) a partnership of which all the members are nationals of Saorstát Eireann and which has a place of business in Saorstát Eireann, or

(c) a company registered in Saorstát Eireann under the Companies Acts, 1908 to 1924, or

(d) a person carrying on a manufacturing undertaking in Saorstát Eireann.

The Minister may, if he so thinks proper, remove from any register of importers maintained in pursuance of this section—

(a) any person convicted of an offence under any section of this Act, and

(b) any person who, having obtained licences under this Act for the importation of goods in two successive quota periods under the same quota order, has imported under the said licences an aggregate quantity of goods not exceeding twenty-five per cent. of the total of the quantities of goods authorised by the said licences respectively to be imported.

CUSTOMS DUTIES.

Licence may be granted for the importation during the "preliminary period" of a specified quantity of goods to which the quota order applies. This quantity must not be exceeded, and such Customs duties as are in force must be paid.

The operations of importers during a quota period is under licence, which must be applied for seven days before the period begins. The quantity of goods is determined according to the following provisions:—

(a) if the total quantity of goods for which such licences are so applied for does not exceed seventy-five per cent. of the quota in respect of such quota period, every such licence shall be a licence for the importation of the full quantity of goods mentioned in the application for such licence;

(b) if the total quantity of goods for which such licences are so applied for exceeds seventy-five per cent. of the said quota, but does not exceed the said quota, then either (as the Minister shall in respect of each quota period determine) every such licence shall be a licence for the importation of the full quantity of goods mentioned in the application for such licence or every such licence shall be a licence for the importation of a rateable proportion of the said full quantity, such rateable proportion being so calculated that the total quantity of goods for the importation of which such licences are issued is equal to seventy-five per cent. of the said quota;

EXCESS OF QUOTA.

(c) if the total quantity of goods for which such licences are so applied for exceeds the said quota, every such licence shall be a licence for the importation of such quantity of goods (not exceeding the quantity mentioned in the application for such licence) as the Minister shall, in the case of each particular licence, determine, having regard to the interests of persons who were ordinarily engaged before the making of such quota order in the importation of goods to which the said quota order applies, but so that the total quantity of goods for the importation of which such licences are issued is not less than seventy-five per cent. of the said quota;

SPECIAL QUOTAS.

(d) where a special quota or special quotas has or have been fixed in respect of any quota period, each such special quota and also the balance of the quota remaining after deducting such special quota or special quotas shall be deemed to be a separate quota for the purposes of this sub-section, and the provisions of this sub-section shall apply and have effect accordingly.

(e) where an additional quota has been fixed in respect of any quota period, such additional quota shall be deemed to be a separate quota for the purposes of this sub-section, and the provisions of this sub-section shall apply and have effect accordingly.

LICENCES.

To any licence for import under quota the Minister may attach a condition "that the goods imported thereunder shall be goods manufactured in a specified country and imported from that country," but the total shall not exceed the quota in respect of the quota period concerned.

In the event of an importer failing to import during the quota period the quantity of goods for which he is authorised by licence, and it appears to the Minister that such failure was due to causes beyond the control of such person the Minister shall, for the subsequent quota period, issue a licence for a quantity not exceeding that mentioned in the first licence. Goods for which an extra licence has been granted shall not be reckoned as part of the quota fixed under the Act.

The Executive Council will have power to amend or revoke any quota order.

Penalties for procuring registration or licence by false representations include a fine not exceeding £25.

KASHMIR'S CAPITAL QUIETER.

NINE KILLED IN THE RIOTING.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SIALKOT (PUNJAB), Monday.

The situation at Srinagar, capital of Kashmir, where Communal trouble broke out during the week-end, is now reported to be quieter.

Seven of the people wounded in the attack on the State Treasury at Pulwana Camp, near Avantipur, have died, bringing the death-roll to nine.

Twenty persons have been arrested at Anantmag, South Kashmir, while at Sopor, North Kashmir, a procession ot three hundred youths was dispersed by the authorities. The organiser of the procession was taken into custody.

NEWSPAPERS AND LIBEL.

SUGGESTED REVISION OF THE LAW.

Captain A. S. Cunningham-Reid (Conservative), in the House of Commons yesterday, asked if there could not be represented to the Lord Chancellor the advisability of referring to the Standing Joint Committee, recently appointed by the Lord Chancellor to consider the revision of legal doctrines and decisions in the light of modern conditions, the present position of the law of defamation, more especially in regard to libel actions against newspapers.

Sir Donald Somervell (Solicitor-General) replied that the Committee was already sufficiently occupied with the questions already referred to it, but at a later stage Captain Cunningham-Reid's suggestion would receive most careful consideration.

FREE STATE TOBACCO.

GROWERS MUST BE LICENSED.

ACREAGE TO BE LIMITED.

THE Free State Minister for Agriculture has announced that the Government intend to introduce at a very early date a bill for the regulation and control of tobacco-growing this season.

It is proposed to take power:—

(a) To limit the total area of tobacco to be grown in the Saorstat this season;

(b) To restrict the number of growers, and probably confine the issue of licences to a certain class of grower;

(c) To prescribe the maximum and minimum area that may be allocated to individual growers;

(d) To control and regulate the sale of tobacco seed with a view to providing that only such varieties of tobacco may be grown in the Saorstat as will produce the most suitable types and classes of leaf for the trade;

(e) To prescribe the conditions under which tobacco will be cured and rehandled, and to regulate the sale and price of home-grown tobacco, and to provide for the absorption of the crop by manufacturers.

SAME AREA AS LAST YEAR.

Questioned as to the area of tobacco which will be permitted under the new legislation, the Minister for Agriculture mentioned that somewhere in the neighbourhood of 750 acres were grown last season, and, while he would not mention a definite figure in regard to the area for the coming season, he clearly intimated that it would bear a fairly close relation to last season's area.

As regards the price which would be provided under the bill, the Minister intimated that the average price for sound rehandled tobacco will probably be in the neighbourhood of 1s. 3d. per lb., which would represent about 1s. per lb. to the grower. He stated in this connection that a grower who succeeds in producing leaf of high quality would, under the arrangement contemplated by the bill, obtain a somewhat higher price; but that, on the other hand, a grower who produces—either because it is badly saved or because it is of unsuitable variety—tobacco of poor quality will almost certainly receive a lesser price than 1s. per lb.

MUST HAVE LICENCE.

It was definitely stated that the growing of tobacco to any extent whatever would be prohibited, except under licence.

Licences will be issued by the Revenue Commissioners; but, in view of the Government's intention to restrict the acreage and control the industry, as set out above, any licences issued prior to the passing of the necessary legislation must be regarded as provisional.

It was suggested that all persons who desire to grow tobacco should apply to the Revenue Commissioners for a provisional licence before March 1st.

In connection with tobacco-growing in Co. Wexford the Minister received a deputation from the County Committee of Agriculture yesterday, at which he also made the above announcement. The deputation consisted of Messrs. M. Doyle, J. Cummins and T. Darcy.

Louth County Committee of Agriculture expect that there will be 200 or 300 acres of tobacco grown in the county this year, and have asked for the services of an expert.

IRISHMAN KILLED IN GUN BATTLE.

SPONSORED U.S. TOUR OF MAYO GAELS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Mr. John F. O'Dwyer, younger brother of Magistrate William O'Dwyer, of New York City, has died in hospital as a result of wounds sustained during a fight with hold-up men.

Mr. O'Dwyer sponsored the tour of the Mayo Gaelic football team in the United States in 1932, and was well known both here and in Ireland.

It was said that Mr. O'Dwyer and a policeman friend of his were sitting in a café when the bandits entered, bent on a hold-up. The policeman opened fire, and a gun battle ensued, during which Mr. O'Dwyer came into the line of fire and was struck. He died in the Holy Family Hospital in Brooklyn.

FRESH AIR FOR CHILDREN.

MR. BALDWIN'S APPEAL.

Mr. Baldwin, at the Mansion House, London, last night, made a final appeal in aid of the Foundling Hospital Site Fund. Referring to the danger of the roads, he said:—It will be possible to walk in Whitehall on a Sunday without being killed; it will not be possible to do that in the country. The natural playing-ground in former days was the streets. It is about as safe to play in the streets to-day as it is on the main line of the North-Western Railway.

He asked those who were able to go by car to the country to remember the children, and added: London traffic dies away on Sunday, it is true, but I want fresh air for these children on seven days a week. Sunday in London is a day of peace, and that is why I stay there at this time of the year.

Referring to the wider world, Mr. Boldwin said: We statesmen are leading a very arduous existence at the present moment, because the whole world is like a kaleidoscope, turning round and round on every conceivable kind of question, falling into pieces and re-forming and shuffling all the time. We have all the anxiety and the worry of not knowing what is going to happen, and of getting ready for what suddenly, unexpectedly, is being done in another country. It does not affect the man in the street. There are people to whom these fluctuations of dollars and of francs mean prosperity. It is very odd, but it is so. It does not mean prosperity to me or to the children.

Mr. Baldwin then suggested that those who had benefited by such fluctuations should give a donation to the Appeal Fund, and dedicate it to the Brain Trust of America.

The Marquess of Crewe read a letter from the Queen's Private Secretary, sending £50 to the Fund. "I am to express not only Her Majesty's deep interest in this great scheme," said the letter, "but also her warm sympathy with its aims and objects."

EXPORT OF FAT CATTLE.

USE OF JANUARY LICENCES.

The Free State Department of Agriculture state that licences issued during the month of January for the export of cattle to the United Kingdom will be valid up to the 14th of this month. Persons in possession of licences marked "January" may, therefore, use them, provided the cattle are delivered in Great Britain or Northern Ireland in sufficient time on the 14th inst. to be cleared through the Customs.

Any person in possession of licences, marked either January or February, who does not propose to use them, is requested to return them immediately to the Department.

CRUISER ORDER FOR BELFAST.

WORK FOR THREE YEARS.

EXPENDITURE OF OVER £1,000,000.

THE Admiralty yesterday announced that, subject to the settlement of certain points of detail, it has been decided to entrust the construction of the following vessels of the 1933 programme to the shipbuilders indicated:—

One cruiser—H.M.S. Penelope—to Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., Belfast.

One submarine—H.M.S. Narwhal—to Messrs. Vickers, Armstrongs, Ltd., Barrow-in-Furness.

One sloop mine-sweeper—H.M.S. Speedwell—to Messrs. W. Hamilton and Co., Ltd., Port Glasgow, with machinery by Messrs. W. Beardmore and Co., Ltd., Dalmuir.

SATISFACTION IN BELFAST.

ABOUT A MILLION POUNDS INVOLVED.

Our Belfast correspondent writes:—The new British cruiser Penelope, which is to be built at Belfast by Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., will revive a name long associated with the Navy. The vessel will be laid down as soon as possible, and the work of construction will occupy from two to three years. It is expected that the expenditure on the Penelope in Belfast will amount to upwards of £1,000,000, apart from the cost of imported materials.

The 1933 Naval estimates provided for the construction of four cruisers—one of 7,000 tons displacement, of the Leander type, and three of the Arethusa type, each of about 5,200 tons displacement. It is one of the latter class that has been allotted to Belfast; the other two—Minotaur and Polyphemus—have not yet been allocated, but they will not be built in Belfast.

Belfast shipbuilding circles express much satisfaction at the placing of the order. The present is the first Naval contract that has come to Northern Ireland shipyards since the War, and it is hoped that it will be followed by others.

Messrs. Harland and Wolff got occasional contracts for battleship machinery before 1914, and during the War they did a great amount of Naval work at their Belfast and Govan yards. Their principal ship of the War period—the Glorious, of 25,000 tons displacement—was laid down in March of 1915, and completed in January, 1917. The Glorious, now an air-ship carrier, is said to have cost nearly £3,000,000.

NORTHERN IRELAND SHIPBUILDING.

QUESTION OF STATE ASSISTANCE.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Miss Ward (Conservative, Wallsend) asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he had any information as to the extent to which the Government of Northern Ireland was affording Irish shipbuilders assistance, either directly or indirectly, through the banks or through any other agency.

Mr. Hore-Belisha (Financial Secretary to the Treasury) replied—I am informed that no assistance is given by the Government of Northern Ireland to shipbuilders in that country. If my honourable friend has in mind the facilities afforded to shipowners under the Loans Guarantee Acts for the construction of ships in Northern Ireland, I understand that the guarantees given amount to about £1,250,000 over the last two years.

Miss Ward asked if there was any truth in the rumour that a sum of money equivalent to the unemployment benefit which would have been paid under any contract if the work had not been obtained was paid by the Northern Ireland Government to the banks.

Mr. Hore-Belisha—I can hardly answer for rumours. I have given the facts asked for.

Mr. Graham White (Liberal, Birkenhead) asked if the answer covered the municipality of Belfast.

Mr. Hore-Belisha—My answer covers the question on the paper.

Mr. D. Reid (Conservative, Down) suggested that, as no Minister in the House was responsible, the question was out of order.

The Speaker ruled that it was in order to ask a question if the Minister could supply the information asked for.

UNEMPLOYMENT BILL.

INSTRUCTION AND TRAINING.

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.

WESTMINSTER, Monday.

The House of Commons to-day resumed consideration of the Unemployment Bill in Committee. On Clause 15, which makes provision for authorised courses of instruction and training, and for payment of allowances to persons attending such courses, Mr. W. G. Cove (Labour) moved the first of a series of amendments to make it the duty of an education authority to submit to the Board of Education proposals for the provision of courses of instruction for persons under 18 who have no work or only part-time or intermittent work. He estimated that in 1937 there would be over 400,000 more unemployed juveniles between the ages of 14 and 18 than there are at present.

Sir Henry Betterton (Minister of Labour) thought that the amendment went further than was necessary, because it would make it obligatory on every local authority to submit proposals for instruction centres whether or not there were any unemployed boys or girls in their area. He admitted that the clause as it stood was a little vague, and said that if the hon. member would put down an amendment on the report stage to make it clear that proposals should be submitted wherever the Minister thought necessary, it would be favourably considered. With regard to the raising of the school age, there was nothing in the bill which would prejudice the question one way or the other. Instructional centres served a very useful purpose, and the Government were determined to extend them to include, as far as practicable, every boy and girl who desired to attend them. By making it obligatory upon local authorities to provide them, they had made a great advance on anything that had been done before.

Mr. A. Greenwood (Labour) declared that the Government were dealing with the problem of juvenile unemployment in the wrong way. The right course would be to raise the school-leaving age.

Mr. James Maxton (Labour) described these instructional centres as a fad, with very limited practical results.

Sir Ian Macpherson (National Liberal) said it would be a sheer waste of money to compel local authorities to provide centres where there was no need for them.

Lady Astor regretted that the Government had not gone boldly ahead and raised the school age.

The amendment was rejected by 329 votes to 58.

Other amendments to the clause and to the succeeding clause, 32 in number, had to be passed over without discussion owing to the operation of the guillotine at 7.30.

The debate was adjourned.

GOLD NOW £7 PER OUNCE.

LONDON MARKET'S "RECORD."

ROOSEVELT REGIME FEARS SCANDAL.

GROWING REVOLT AGAINST N.R.A.

GOLD rose to a new high "record" in the London market yesterday, when the price paid was 140s. per fine ounce. This was 1s. 9d. higher than Saturday's price, and 6d. higher than the previous high "record," which was reached on Friday.

Thirty-two shillings was being offered for gold sovereigns at shops dealing in them.

Yesterday's gold price represented a premium of 5s. to 6s. an ounce over the Bank of France's buying price of 16,919 francs per kilo. Converted into dollars at the rate ruling, the London gold price was equal to 34.52 dollars. This is 48 cents below the U.S. Treasury price, while on Saturday the difference was 96 cents. On the basis of the London gold price, the value of the dollar is 59.88 former gold cents., as compared with 60.72 on Saturday and the official objective of 59.06.

SHARP FALL IN FRANC.

While the calm that comes before the storm ruled in political waters in Paris yesterday (says Reuter), there was a hectic flurry on the Bourse, where sterling and the dollar shot upwards and the franc downwards.

While there was a rush to buy international "gilt-edges," like Suez Canal shares, there was a slump in French "gilt-edges."

The sharp fall in the franc is attributed in some quarters to the political campaign against M. Daladier and his Socialist allies, recalling the financial warfare of 1926.

The Bank of France is not perturbed, and the gold standard still remains the first article of its creed.

WASHINGTON'S CONCERN.

There are signs, in spite of the silence of the Administration, that the effect—political and monetary—on Europe of recent developments of American policy is a matter of immediate anxiety (says the Washington Correspondent of The Times). But events are moving in the domestic field toward decisions of such importance that the outer world receives comparatively little attention.

Some of the peaks above the flood of daily happenings can be briefly listed:—

The Senate yesterday afternoon sat as a court of law to consider the case of William McCracken, who was Assistant Secretary of Commerce in charge of aviation during the Hoover administration, and who, since leaving that office, has been attorney for a number of the principal commercial air lines.

He had been summoned as a witness in the committee investigation which has disclosed the profiteering uses to which air mail subsidies have been put, and, while under orders to produce correspondence with his clients, and awaiting the decision of the Senate Committee as to the validity of his refusal on the ground of privilege, permitted the removal of a number of letters from his private office by certain of these clients.

A "SCANDAL?"

The case will be resumed on Friday, but behind the purely legal principles under debate there lurks the suspicion that the Senate may be within touching distance of a scandal such as smirched the Harding Administration.

Next in order of interest is the position of the National Recovery Administration, whose codes are to be considered for possible revision this week, and whose efficiency as a means of securing industrial re-employment is now under serious doubt.

There has been "price fixing" within the codified industries, which aroused the ire of consumers and small manufacturers and the concern of the Government, and there are complaints from Labour that, under the demands of the codes, machines are again displacing the man.

The American Federation of Labour is to make a fight for a 30-hour week and for increased wage minima, and even General Johnson, head of the N.R.A., has conceded that a 32-hour week may be necessary to reduce unemployment.

INDIAN COTTON TARIFF BILL.

RESULT OF PACTS WITH JAPAN AND LANCASHIRE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW DELHI, Monday.

The Cotton Tariff Bill was introduced into the Legislative Assembly to-day by Sir Joseph Bhore, the commerce member.

The bill, which gives effect to the Indo-Japanese cotton agreement and the Bombay-Lancashire agreement made last October, comes into force at a date to be notified later. The protective scheme lasts until the end of March, 1939.

Explaining the object of the five years' protective scheme, Sir Joseph Bhore said that it did not follow that the rates of duty now imposed would be incapable of alteration within this period. On the contrary, he said, during the currency of the scheme two occasions would certainly arise when reconsideration of the duties would be necessary.

In the first place, the Indo-Japanese agreement in respect of cotton piece-goods would terminate in March, 1937, and it would be necessary—whether a fresh agreement had been concluded or not—to determine what level of duties would be appropriate thereafter.

In the second place, its essence lay in the agreement between the Bombay Millowners' Association and the Lancashire Textile Delegation. Under this, should it be possible within the currency of the agreement—namely, in the period ending December 31st, 1935—to remove the general surcharge imposed by the Indian Finance Supplementary and Extending Act (1931) the duties on cotton piece-goods of British manufacture will be reduced to a basic rate of 20 per cent. ad valorem, or, in the case of plain greys, to three and a half annas per pound.

Furthermore, on the expiry of the agreement the adequacy of that basic rate would be the subject of investigation, with a view to its revision if necessary.

The bill, said Sir Joseph, exempts from surcharge all items which have been made dutiable at rates other than the general revenue rate of five per cent. ad valorem.

SIX MEN ARRESTED IN CAIRO MURDER CASE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CAIRO, Monday.

Six men are under arrest in connection with the death of the Rev. John Carden. The sixth arrest, which is claimed as "important," was made last nigt at the house of a vegetable dealer at Helmia.

It is now stated that Father Carden's real name was Hessenau, and that he changed it to Carden at the outbreak of the Great War.

PRINCE GEORGE IN CAPETOWN.

DEMONSTRATIONS OF LOYALTY.

TRIUMPHAL PROGRESS THROUGH STREETS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CAPE TOWN, Monday.

CROWDS of cheering South Africans, many of whom had gathered long before dawn, welcomed Prince George here to-day, when he arrived from his official tour of the Union.

The Prince's liner, the Carnarvon Castle, arrived at dawn. All the ships in the dock, including H.M.S. Dorsetshire, were dressed with bunting, and aeroplanes droned overhead. Before disembarking, the Prince received a number of prominent South Africans in the liner's library. They included the Prime Minister, General Hertzog, General Smuts, Chief Justice Welles, Vice-Admiral E. R. Evans, Commander-in-Chief Africa Station; the Mayor of Cape Town, Mr. Gradner, and the Acting Administrator, Mr. Voigt.

Subsequently the Prince had a private conversation, lasting for twenty minutes, with General Hertzog and General Smuts.

When Prince George disembarked at 10 a.m., dressed in the uniform of a lieutenant-commander, a royal salute of twenty-one guns echoed from the Castle and from H.M.S. Dorsetshire. A Citizen Force band played the National Anthem, after which the Prince inspected a guard of honour amid tremendous cheering. Then he drove off to the City Hall to receive the address of welcome from the Mayor.

CHEERING THOUSANDS.

At least 100,000 persons thronged the principal streets to watch the Prince's progress through the city. The facades and roofs of every building were studded with human faces and waving hands.

Before proceeding to the City Hall, where the Mayor, resplendent in scarlet robes, and the Councillors, attired in blue, awaited him, the Prince called on the Governor-General and Lady Clarendon at Government House.

There was a distinguished gathering at the City Hall, including members and former members of the Cabinet, the Agent-General for India, the Consular Corps, the judges, and the Archbishop of Cape Town.

Enthusiasm reached fever pitch when, heralded by a fanfare of trumpets, Prince George entered the City Hall.

ROYAL FAMILY'S DEVOTION

In a brief speech of welcome, the Mayor gratefully recalled the visits to South Africa of the King and the Prince of Wales, and referred to the exalted ideals of personal duty and national service so intimately associated with the Royal Family.

Every reference to the King and the Prince of Wales was loudly cheered.

Prince George's reply was spoken in a clear resonant voice, and was rapturously listened to by an audience of four thousand. He referred to the Union's history as being "rich in enterprise and adventure," enumerated its products and industry, and said that the grand scenery and climate were a feature of "this great country."

The Prince declared that as he rapidly passed through the country "my interest in your land and your problems will always increase, and when I return to England I shall often recall my meeting with you all."

The King had a deep interest in South Africa, he added, and, like the Prince of Wales, would never forget the hospitality that he had received. In conclusion, Prince George thanked the Government for its invitation to him to tour South Africa.

The Prince subsequently motored to Westbrooke along streets densely packed with cheering crowds.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE CRISIS IN FRANCE.

In a leading article to-day The Times remarks:—It would be necessary to go back many years into the stormy history of France during the last century to find a parallel for the circumstances of stress and turmoil in which the French Parliament is meeting to-day. Something very like a crise de régime is agitating the whole political life of the country. There is a large mass of sober opinion which is genuinely disgusted at the present working of the parliamentary system, without being sure what it would like to put in its place. There are serious advocates of drastic constitutional reforms, which would create an oligarchical dictatorship, and there are a few, but very strident, champions of a monarchy. A large political party believes the time to be near when a more truly Socialist Republic may be established, and it is almost certain that, if a general election were actually to take place now—though this Parliament has not yet run half its normal course—the struggle would be between the extremists of Right and Left.

France has suffered in recent years other crises of the franc, followed by the general economic crisis, and on to the weakened structure of her national economy crashed the avalanche of the Stavisky scandals, which has spread and broken its way right over the political and social fields of the country. The people are angry, distracted and confused. They see signs of corruption everywhere, and those who are no friends to the Republican form of government have found in its present difficulties their chance of discrediting it.

M. Daladier showed himself a firm and resourceful leader last year, adds The Times, and he has at least as good a chance as anyone else of holding the parliamentary situation. The rapid succession of Ministries—this is the sixth since the general election in 1932—have all been composed mainly from the same group, and have involved no very great changes of personnel.

M. Daladier interested himself personally in the problems of disarmament and relations with Germany when he was Prime Minister before, when M. Paul-Boncour was at the Quai d'Orsay, a post continuously held by him under M. Sarraut and M. Chautemps. There may, indeed, be a slight change of emphasis, since M. Daladier is understood to be ready to deal with Germany direct, without quite the same insistence upon always using the medium of the League of Nations. In any case, the attention of the French public is momentarily fixed upon national, rather than external, problems.

ANGLO-SOVIET TREATY

EARLY SIGNATURE EXPECTED.

The Anglo-Soviet Trade Treaty, which has been under negotiation in recent months, has now reached the drafting stage, and, Reuter understands, the signature is expected to take place at an early date.

NERVOUS TENSION IN PARIS.

TRUTH ABOUT TROOP-MASSING.

FEARS OF SERIOUS DISORDER TO-DAY.

UNREMITTING SHOW OF STRENGTH NECESSARY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

PARIS is full of the wildest alarmist rumours, in which the words coup d'état and revolution are freely bandied round, while certain Paris newspapers have published stories of the massing of troops in the capital.

The facts ascertained, however, are:—

(1) The normal Paris garrison has been ordered not to leave barracks, and to hold itself ready for action.

(2) The various garrisons outside Paris have received similar orders.

(3) A company of Spahis, the famous regiment of native cavalry, is in Paris, although the usual G.H.Q. is at Senlis. Whether this has anything to do with the present situation, or whether it is a coincidence due to normal troop movements remains to be proved.

(4) In well-informed quarters (not official) it was stated to-day that not a single soldier has been brought into Paris.

(5) Where one or two policemen are normally on duty in the streets there are now three or four.

(6) Mounted Republican Guards are stationed in the neighbourhood of the Chamber.

(7) It may be said with assurance that it is in the highest degree unlikely that a single soldier will be seen outside barracks unless riot and bloodshed have broken out and reached such proportions that the police and the Republican Guard can no longer cope with the situation.

CAUSE OF PRECAUTIONS.

The precautions are being taken in view of three possibilities:—

(1) The intention to demonstrate to-morrow of the Ex-Soldiers' Union, the Jeunesse Patriote, the Action Française, the Communists, and the Fascists.

Should, in fact, all these bodies demonstrate it is possible that the police would not be numerous enough to preserve order.

(2) A certain undercurrent of dissatisfaction at M. Chiappe's dismissal from the Prefecture of Police is thought to exist among a limited number of the police.

(3) There is certainly a great deal of nervous tension in Paris, which, in view of the somewhat effervescent nature of many of the Parisian population, might degenerate into serious disorder if adequate forces of law and order were not present.

CHAMBER VOTE ASSURED.

Thanks to the votes of the Socialists, as a result of the compulsory retirement of M. Chiappe, M. Daladier seems assured of a majority in the Chamber. A division will be taken at the end of the debate on the Ministerial declaration to-morrow.

The Premier and M. Frot, the Minister of the Interior, are expected to forge ahead with the purging of the body politic.

A condition of the Government's enduring survival will be an unremitting show of strength. The Premier will undoubtedly encounter fierce opposition in the Chamber and in the street. In the Chamber the debate is likely to be long and fiery. In the street there will be angry demonstrations, which M. Frot is determined to crush by means of the police, and, if necessary, the military.

Members of the Croix de Feu, an Extreme Right ex-soldiers' association, attempting to demonstrate in front of the Ministry of the Interior and in the neighbourhood of the Madeleine and the Champs-Elysées, were dispersed this evening by the police and the Republican Guard. Several arrests were made.

Further disturbances occurred this evening. Several thousand demonstrators who attempted to reach the Ministry of the Interior succeeded, after forcing several barricades, in reaching the square where the Ministry is situated, but were driven away by mounted Republican Guards.

BERLIN'S INTEREST.

The events in Paris (says Reuter's Berlin Correspondent) are reported at length to-day by the German Press, which is of the opinion that the Daladier Government will remain in control of the situation. The newspapers point out that Daladier will now have to rely on Socialist support in the Chamber, and wonder whether this will have an effect on the Government's foreign policy, especially in regard to disarmament. They expect that Daladier will refer to this subject to-morrow, and also reply precisely and definitely to the thirteen questions of the German Memorandum.

FRENCH QUOTA TALKS.

RETALIATORY MEASURES KEPT SECRET.

Colonel Colville, Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department, states in a written reply to Mr. Perkins (Conservative) that the period of ten days allowed the French Government before the British Government adopted retaliatory measures in reply to the new French quotas was proposed in order to enable discussion to take place. "Discussions are, in fact, still proceeding," he adds.

The President of the Board of Trade, stated Colonel Colville, was not yet in a position to make a statement as to the retaliatory step proposed to be taken.

A GRETA GARBO MYSTERY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

CHICAGO, Monday.

The mystery of Greta Garbo's whereabouts is solved, according to officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad here.

They declare positively that she is on board the Manhattan Limited express, bound for New York. Her director, Mr. Rouben Mamoulian, whom she was yesterday reported to be about to marry, is also travelling east-bound for New York. It was then stated that a disguised woman, thought to be Greta Garbo, had joined the train with him.

DUN LAOGHAIRE COUNCIL.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT AUDITOR'S REPORT.

Mr. E. Mac Guaigin, Local Government auditor, in his report on the accounts of the Dun Laoghaire Borough Corporation for the period commencing August 17, 1932, and ending March 31, 1933, to be submitted at the adjourned quarterly meeting of the Dun Laoghaire Borough Corporation on Thursday next, says:—

"The rate struck for the service of the year 1932-33 was inadequate, in so far as the estimate on which the rate was made contained no provision for the reduction of a large balance against the revenue account. I understand, however, that the borough manager is seeking the Minister's sanction to a short-term funding loan, equivalent to the debit balance as at March 31, 1933.

"The manner in which the capital and revenue moneys of the Dun Laoghaire Urban District Council have been intermixed for some years prior to the creation of the new borough was a departure from the provisions of the Public Bodies Orders, and a violation of the elementary principles of good book-keeping. An examination of the statement of balances will show—(a) that the ordinary account, which is the only working account with the treasurer, is overdrawn to the extent of £48,568, as a consequence of the foregoing irregularities, and that it still owes to the redemption fund account a sum of £33,919; and (b) that a sum of no less than £75,110 has been expended in excess of loans received. As it is the intention of the Corporation to apply part of the proceeds of the recent issue of Stock towards the cost of capital works recently executed, a large reduction in this latter sum will be effected, and the ordinary account will be in a better position to permit of drawings in respect of the sum due to the redemption fund account. These proposed transactions will call for a separate account with the Treasurer for the receipt and payment of capital moneys.

"Attention is directed to the necessity for carrying to the redemption fund in each year a sum equivalent to the dividends on stock redeemed.

"The various properties of the Corporation are covered by insurance policies, and the bonds of the officers who are required to give security are in order.

"The accounts of receipts and payments as presented by the Borough Accountant were carefully prepared for audit."

SUNDAY PICTURES IN STRABANE.

DEPUTATION OF PROTEST.

From Our Correspondent.

STRABANE, Monday.

At a meeting of Strabane Urban Council—Mr. G. Boyle (chairman) presiding—Mr. J. C. Browne, Town Clerk, read a memorial objecting to Sunday performances being allowed at the new picture house. The memorial was signed by forty-seven residents, including merchants and the Rev. William Murphy, C.C.; the Rev. Irvine Kirkpatrick, Methodist minister; the Rev. Edward Clarke, M.A., Presbyterian minister, and the Rev. Hugh McGonigle.

A deputation comprising Mr. John Colhoun Taylor, Mr. Robert Bruce, and the Rev. Irvine Kirkpatrick appeared before the Council in support of the memorial.

Mr. Gallagher proposed that the memorial be marked "read." The people of the town should be allowed to do their own business. There was not, he said, a church in Strabane that had a place for the working-men of the town to go after a hard week's work, and they were entitled to recreation and enjoyment. He moved that a licence be granted in the ordinary way in respect of the new cinema when the time arrives.

Mr. Carlin said there were far greater dangers to be apprehended from driving young people on the roads and by-roads at night. Where were people to go if they had not a cinema? It would be far better for some people who condemned the picture house to go and see the pictures and point out any to which objection could be taken.

The Chairman said the deputation came there representing a certain number of residents, but the Council had to take into consideration the numbers of respectable residents who went to the pictures on Sunday nights.

On a division there voted for the motion the Chairman, Messrs. McGarrigle, Carlin, Gallagher and Perry, and against Messrs. Russell, Perry and White.

The motion to grant the licence was accordingly declared carried.

OLD WOMAN'S FATAL BURNS.

The Dublin Coroner (Dr. D. A. MacErlean) returned a verdict of "accidental death" yesterday at the inquest which he held on the body of Miss Julia Dooly (88), whose death in Jervis street Hospital last Saturday was the result of burns received at her home in Moore street on the preceding day.

The Coroner said that it seemed to him that the woman got her clothing alight at the fire and then threw herself on the bed in an effort to extinguish the flames. Failing in this, she went down to the hall and raised an alarm.

Dr. John O'Hanrahan, Jervis street Hospital, said that death was due to shock and hæmorrhage following extensive burns.

BELFAST MEN FAIL TO APPEAR.

BENCH WARRANTS ISSUED

From Our Correspondent.

LIVERPOOL, Monday.

Bench warrants for the arrest of two Belfast men who failed to appear for their trial at Liverpool Assizes were issued to-day by Mr. Justice Rigby Swift.

Mr. Smith, who prosecuted, said that the men—Hugh Middleton Dixon, aged 36, a sales manager, of Denmark street, and Henry Totten, aged 37, a salesman, of Empire street, were committed on charges of conspiracy and false pretences. Bail had been granted in the sum of £20. Both the men returned to Belfast at the conclusion of the police court proceedings last week. The Ulster police were informed that the men had to appear at Liverpool Assizes. Dixon's wife told the police that she had not seen her husband for six weeks, and that he was in Dublin. Totten was informed that he would have to appear.

Mrs. Henrietta Margaret Doulman, of Charlecombe street, Birkenhead, who went surety for Dixon, said that the only thing she could do was to go to Ireland and try and bring Dixon to court.

Mr. Justice Swift—I will issue a bench warrant to bring them here to save you going over to Ireland. If I get them here before the end of these Assizes I will not forfeit your recognisances; but, if I do not, you will be in dire trouble. If you know their addresses you had better write to them and implore them to come here.

STATE TO CONTROL ARMS.

T.D.'S ASSURANCE.

Dr. P. J. O'Dowd, T.D., speaking at a Fianna Fail meeting in Boyle, yesterday, said that the Government having banned the Blue Shirts, could not allow other persons under the name of another organisation to go out and carry rifles either. All the arms in the country must be under the control of the State. If anyone wanted to serve his country under arms the new Volunteer Force gave the opportunity. They would be trained and allowed to shoot, and he could give him a guarantee he would never be asked to turn his gun on a brother Irishman. Perhaps, when the time came they would be asked to use these guns, but they never would be asked to use them except on behalf of a Republic, and use them under control of the State.

They knew that there was plenty of grousing and discontent among the Government's followers, who were the backbone of Fianna Fail. The economic war was in progress last election, and they sent back the Government in power. "Until you withdraw that mandate there is no good in saying why can't you settle," said Dr. O'Dowd.

ASSAULT ON WOMAN IN TRAIN.

TWENTY LASHES AND LONG TERM IN JAIL.

At Chester Assizes yesterday, George Grey (34), a native of Wolverhampton, pleaded guilty to robbing with violence in a train Mrs. Evelyn Curtis, of Amberley road, Sale, on November 29. Grey also pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to commit an offence against Mrs. Curtis, and asked that a case of bigamy should also be taken into account.

For robbing with violence, he was sentenced to three years' penal servitude, with twenty lashes of the cat, while for the attempted offence he was sentenced to four years' penal servitude, the sentences to run consecutively, or seven years in all.

SOUTHERN CHURCH MISSION, BALLYMACARRETT.

The Archbishop of Dublin will preside at the fourth annual meeting of the Southern Church Mission, Ballymacarrett this afternoon at 5.15 in the Gregg Memorial Hall, 8 Dawson street, Dublin. The head of the Mission, the Rev. Alan Buchanan, will describe the progress of the work since the building of the new church of St. Martin. The Bishop of Meath also will speak.

COUNTY CORK MYSTERY.

DUNMANWAY MAN'S DEATH.

EVIDENCE AT INQUEST.

MR. J. J. LUCK, Coroner, resumed the inquest yesterday at Dunmanway on Cornelius Daly, of Gloun, who was found unconscious in Main street, Dunmanway, on Christmas morning, and who died without regaining consciousness.

Mr. J. Meagher, Barrister-at-Law, appeared on behalf of the Attorney-General. He intimated to the Coroner that, due to the fact that the Civic Guards had not been made aware of the incident for five days, those engaged in the event had been able to make plans to conceal their identity. This greatly handicapped the investigation, and it was probably impossible to identify those concerned.

Jerome P. O'Mahony, of the Laurel Bar, told how the deceased man, with John O'Regan, Shanacashel, came to his premises after midnight Mass and at about 3.30 a.m. the three of them left to visit a sick friend in the town. Passing the corner of the square, a crowd shouted: "To hell with the Blueshirts." The crowd followed them, and witness and his two friends went down a side street to let them pass. A member of the crowd further followed them down the side street and a voice asked: "Are ye Blueshirts." Witness replied that he never wore a blue shirt. He moved away with the deceased man, and on reaching the Main street received a kick, and was then felled with a blow in the face. He thought he heard a man falling behind him. A man named Joe Keane then intervened and said, "Hands off that man," and helped witness to his home. Outside the Laurel Bar a crowd later collected, demanding admittance, and threatening to burst in the door and "plug" the witness. Being refused admission, they went away.

John O'Regan, national teacher, who said that an operation in 1927 had affected his memory, deposed that when accompanying the last witness and deceased man he heard no shouting or saw no crowd. He found the body of deceased man lying on the footpath of the main street.

Other witnesses were then examined, and the inquiry adjourned until to-day.

TARIFF LOSSES OF NEWSAGENTS

ASSOCIATION'S DISCLOSURES.

ISOLATIONIST PLAN UNSUPPORTED.

THE serious losses suffered by the newsagency trade of the Free State as a result of the tariff on their "raw material" were revealed at the annual meeting last night in Dublin of the Irish Retail Newsagents, Booksellers and Stationers' Association.

A suggestion that the association should break its affiliation with the National Federation of Great Britain and Ireland received scant support.

The President, Mr. John F. McEnerney, was in the chair.

The committee's annual report referred to "the continued progress of the association in all spheres." It mentioned that there had been a considerable increase in membership, and virtually all the principal newsagents in the Free State were now members. A further substantial increase of funds was recorded, and £200 worth of savings' certificates had been added to the reserve fund. Many payments had been made under the benefit scheme, and the committee noted with pleasure that headquarters had added further benefits during the year. "With the introduction of the Budget," stated the report, "the trade received an additional severe setback by the imposition of a tax on cross-Channel daily newspapers. The Minister for Finance was approached on the subject, but without satisfactory results. This tax has unfortunately occasioned very serious financial loss to our members, and we regret we cannot see any prospect of a change at the moment."

During a subsequent discussion Mr. L. Raul suggested that they should be an Irish national organisation, instead of "a branch" affiliated to the National Federation of Great Britain and Ireland.

Mr. D. Bridgman said that the association had been shown scant courtesy in its last approach to the Free State Government. Their association ran its own schemes, and he did not know what more could be wanted as regards independent control. The members were there as trade unionists, and politics should be kept out of the meeting.

A member commented that no Irish publications had arisen to take the place of those which had been "tariffed out of existence."

Mr. J. J. Downes said that, as business people, they did not recognise political divisions. The Association would not approve of breaking away from their friends in the Federation in England and Northern Ireland.

The Chairman, in his presidential remarks, said that they had now 75 per cent. of those engaged in the trade enrolled in the organisation. Nearly a hundred applications were received in connection with new openings, and of those only a small proportion were granted, as the districts were, in most cases, already amply catered for. In dealing with those applications the wholesalers and publishers co-operated in a most helpful manner. In a few instances in the city, shops that were refused supplies endeavoured to obtain them through street-sellers.

THREAT OF ACTION.

"I am not fully satisfied that all that is possible is being done to prevent such supplies reaching these street-sellers. If this practice continues it may be necessary to ask our members to take a certain definite and drastic line of action," declared the President.

The total losses for the year 1932-1933 arising out of tariffs on the trade amounted to £97,016. During the past year another severe set-back in the shape of a further tax on cross-Channel daily papers was received, with the result that there had been a decrease of between thirty and forty per cent. in the sales of those papers.

In conclusion, he thanked the members of the committee for their assistance in carrying out his duties, and their organising secretary, Mr. J. O'C. Sullivan, whose zeal and energy in the interests of the association had brought it to its present flourishing position; and the circulation managers of the Irish daily newspapers, the representatives of the cross-Channel papers, and the wholesale agencies, for the courtesy which they had at all times shown to the association's deputations.

Mr. J. O'C. Sullivan also gave an encouraging report of his activities.

APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. John F. McEnerney was unanimously re-elected president, Mr. J. L. Hughes was appointed vice-president, Mr. C. V. Clery treasurer, Mr. D. Bridgman hon. secretary and national councillor, Miss Quinn, Mr. Lane hon. trustees; and the following committee:—Mrs. Parsons, Miss O'Reilly, Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Byrne Miss Quinn, Miss Smith, Messrs. T. Mason, C. V. Clery, J. L. Keogh, J. Lane, M. E. Craddock, D. Bridgman, F. Etherington, W. Stanley, W. Brennan, J. J. Hart, J. O'Brien and W. Kenna.

Among the delegates who attended the meeting were:—Messrs. A. Taylor and J. Turnley (Belfast), Mr. J. J. Downes (Limerick), Mr. Eamon O'Connor (Tralee), and Mr. A. Flood (Sligo). Mr. Taylor and Mr. Turnley conveyed fraternal greetings from the North of Ireland, and spoke on matters affecting the common interest.

LEITRIM CIVIC GUARDS.

FIANNA FAIL ALLEGES FAVOURITISM.

From Our Correspondent.

CARRICK-ON-SHANNON, Monday.

At a meeting of South Leitrim Executive, Fianna Fail, it was alleged that Civic Guards in Ballinamore, Carrigallen and other areas were discharging their duties partially, and that, while Blueshirts could break the law with impunity, Fianna Fail and Republican supporters were victimised. The discussion arose out of the delay in holding a promised inquiry into the conduct of Guards at the general election in 1933, when it was alleged Fianna Fail supporters were abused. Several speakers alleged that a Gardai barracks was at present the headquarters for Blueshirts, who could frequent it night or day; that Blueshirts recently assembled in licensed premises not entitled to open on Sunday; that Civic Guards loaned their bicycles to Blueshirts for parade through the town, while Fianna Fail supporters on the streets were held up, questioned and subjected to every insult. It was also alleged that on the night General O'Duffy was released from Arbour Hill bonfires were lighted by Blueshirts, who abused Fianna Fail supporters and stood outside their houses challenging them, and that following the bank robbery at Ballinamore every Republican's house from Ballinamore to Drumshambo was searched, and that since a civilian found part of the stolen money, no genuine effort was made to trace the robbers, and that a member of the force has been actually taking charge of Blueshirts.

The meeting also condemned the manner in which the Courts dealt with Republicans as against Blueshirts, and one speaker said that excessive fines and jail were being imposed on Republicans by judges in general, while Blueshirts' offences were palliated.

A resolution was adopted calling on the Minister for Justice to have a sworn inquiry held into the action of the Gardai in Ballinamore from 1931 to the present time, and asking that, instead of the present detectives, some of the new force replace them. A deputation was appointed to wait on the Minister in connection with the matter.

Mr. B. Maguire, T.D., said that they should remember that the main body of Civic Guards was recruited from those in opposition to Fianna Fail and at a time when Fianna Fail was not in existence. When President de Valera formed Fianna Fail he advocated that they forget and forgive, and if the country was to progress there would have to be unity amongst the people. The authority of the State would have to be respected, and that authority rested in every official. The Opposition were always the first to create trouble, and, having done so, they run to the Guards and demand protection. It was better if Fianna Fail supporters recognised the officers of the Government and not look on them as unfriendly. If that viewpoint was more generously used they would find the Gardai good servants and prepared to give service as friends.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE.

TRIAL OF SALVAGE CORPS CHIEF.

EVIDENCE FOR PROSECUTION.

THE trial of Captain Brynmor Eric Miles (38), chief officer of the London Salvage Corps, began yesterday before Mr. Justice Hawke at the Old Bailey, London. It is expected to last a week.

Captain Miles is accused of having conspired with Leopold Louis Harris to pervert the due administration of justice, and with having between January, 1930, and November 20th, 1932, conspired with Harris and others to contravene the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1906, and in pursuance of such conspiracy accepted £500 from Harris, and a guarantee by Harris of his account at the National Provincial Bank, Moorgate, up to £1,000.

The Attorney-General, Sir Thomas Inskip, K.C., is appearing to prosecute for the Crown, leading Mr. Roland Oliver, K.C., who conducted the case at Bow street, and Mr. L. A. Byrne. Mr. G. Temple Morris, M.P., is defending Captain Miles.

In part, the Attorney-General's opening statement covered familiar ground; for it dealt with matters that were dealt with when Captain Miles appeared at Bow street. But there were points that were new; one new point concerned a "book of bribes."

Dealing with this the Attorney-General said that a Mr. Ralph, a rival fire assessor to Leopold Harris, saw Captain Miles and spoke of bribery. Ralph said that he could produce a book which he could borrow from a clerk named Richardson showing payments to members of the Salvage Corps in Harris's handwriting. That book was never produced. Harris would tell the jury that Captain Miles warned him about it, and he sent Richardson out of London and destroyed the book while he was away.

Leopold Harris, now a convict in the Maidstone Prison, went into the witness box late in the afternoon and began his evidence for the prosecution. He said that Captain Miles complained at their first talk of being left out in the cold, and said that he might be prepared to be of assistance for a consideration. It was arranged that Captain Miles should call on Harris at his house on Sunday afternoon.

At this stage the hearing was adjourned, and Harris will continue his evidence to-day.

GIRL'S CLOTHES IN FLAMES.

ACCIDENT IN DONEGAL HOME.

A serious burning accident occurred at Buncrana, County Donegal, yesterday, when a 16-year-old girl named Mary Anne Doherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doherty, Drummonderry, was left in charge of five very young children by Mr. and Mrs. C. McLaughlin, with whom she was stopping in a house in the old military barracks at Buncrana.

Mr. McLaughlin was on the other side of the road when he heard a scream, and the next moment Mary Anne Doherty dashed out of the house, with her clothes in flames. Mr. McLaughlin went to her aid, wrapped his jacket around her, and extinguished the flames. Dr. McCormick attended the girl, who was removed to Carndonagh Hospital, where she lies in a critical condition.

At the time of the fire the mother was working. It is believed that one of the little girls was putting papers in the fire, and Mary Anne pulled them out of her hand, and her dress caught fire, or that she was lifting the child out of the cradle, which was near the fire.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

UTILITY SHARES RETURN TO THE LIMELIGHT: STOCKS CLOSE STRONG.

Reuter's Telegrams.

NEW YORK, Monday.

The foreign exchange situation was the chief topic in the financial district to-day, but the Stock Exchange was encouraged by the uniformly favourable industrial reports, and the general list moved fractions to 3 dollars higher in very active business. Sales totalled 4,940,000 shares, another high record since July last.

The opening was firm, and the market moved forward in a brisk manner during the morning. The turnover in the first half hour reached 1,260,000 shares, with the ticker lagging behind the "floor." Rails, Rail Equipments, Motors, and Entertainments were lively, a long list rising 1 to 2 points. Considerable distribution on the upturn, however, tended to reduce the extreme gains.

The advance gathered momentum in very active trading during the afternoon, and gains of 1 to 2 points were numerous. Utilities, Farm Implements, Tobaccos, and Merchandising displayed strength. The renewed interest in Merchandising stocks was attributed to the improvement in the business situation during January, and to indications of a substantial expansion of the public demand. Profit-taking on the advance was well absorbed, and the market closed strong.

Increased buying on Wall Street from overseas was reported, notably, from London. The Stock Market commentators were generally bullish in outlook, though some offered the opinion that a reaction is overdue. Traders apparently ignored the rumblings from Paris, where the sharp break in French Government Securities was attributed to the political disturbances rather than to the drain on gold.

International Nickel Company of Canada has resumed the payment of dividends by declaring a quarterly disbursement of ten cents.

The publication, Steel, in estimating a 3 per cent. increase in mill activity last week, says that purchasing virtually in all lines has become livelier.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

The broader outside interest resulted in an early upward movement on the grain market. A stronger domestic and cash position, together with the strength of stocks, stimulated sentiment, while the unfavourable crop prospects induced considerable small-lot buying. The undertone of the market was distinctly firm, although a partial setback occurred in the later dealings under profit-taking. Wheat advanced on buying by the Farmers' National Association and owing to absorption by local and professional interests. The unfavourable outlook in the South-Western area and a fair decrease in the visible supply were additional bullish influences. Maize prices strengthened on purchasing by commission houses and owing to an absence of country pressure. The steadiness of wheat also had a favourable effect. Rye and oats were influenced by the movements in other cereals.

WHEAT opened very steady at 1c. to 3/4c. advance, and closed steady and 1/2c. higher.

Bolsover Colliery. — The directors of Bolsover Colliery have decided to recommend a final dividend on the Ordinary capital of 5 1/2 per cent., making 7 per cent. for the year, compared with 7 1/2 per cent. for the previous year.

Charrington Gardner Locket and Co.—Interim dividend of 5 per cent. actual, less tax, for the year ending 31st March, 1934. (Same.)

Hollinger Mine.—The Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines has declared the regular monthly dividend of 5 cents plus a bonus of 5 cents.

Lister and Co.—The report of Lister and Co., Ltd., Manningham Mills, Bradford, for the year ended November 30 last shows a profit of £11,678, compared with a loss of £42,825 in the previous year. After deduction of Debenture interest and directors' fees, the balance left is £949, to which is added £80,639 transferred from reserve fund. From the total of £81,588 is deducted the adverse balance brought forward from the previous year, £77,936, leaving a credit balance of £3,651 to be carried forward. The reserve fund is now £50,000.

Trinidad Sugar Estates.—The report for the year ended September 30th last states that the net profit, after providing for all charges, depreciation, and income tax, amounted to £12,970, compared with £6,655 for the previous year. A dividend of 7½ per cent. is again proposed on the Preferred-Ordinary Shares, which requires £11,250. The sum of £1,000 is placed to general reserve, the same as a year ago, and the balance to be carried forward at £4,804 is almost similar to the amount brought into the accounts. The directors state that the average price realised per ton shows a small increase, and there was also a small decrease in the cost of production, due to the larger crop obtained and the better juice from the canes.

Tanah Estates (1931).—The report for the year ended September 30th last states that operations resulted in a trading loss of £3,042 and depreciation required £780, which, added to the debit balance of £4,348 brought forward, brings the deficit up to £8,171.

West African Diamond Syndicate.—Second interim of 2 1/2 per cent., less tax, for year. Three payments of 2 1/2 per cent. were made for 1932-'33.

Yorkshire Brick Co.—Earnings for the quarter ended December 31 have been well maintained. Ordinary shareholders are to receive a further interim of 3 per cent. A first interim of 6 per cent. on account of the year to March 31, 1934, was paid in November. Authorised capital to be increased to £700,000 by the creation of 200,000 additional 6 per cent Cumulative Preference shares of £1 and 600,000 Ordinary shares of 5/- each. It is intended to issue 150,000 Preference and 150,000 Ordinary shares to shareholders on bonus terms.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At the opening yesterday of a new series of wool sales at Sydney prices were generally unchanged, compared with those ruling at the close of the January series, but were irregular for the best descriptions of fleece wool. Skirtings were very firm, and comebacks and cross-breds met with strong demand. Competition for the offerings came principally from the Continent and Japan, Yorkshire operations being limited. The highest price for greasy merino was 28d. a pound. There was a catalogue of 11,961 bales, out of which 9,910 were sold. Private sales consisted of 1,588 bales.

At the wool sale held at Melbourne yesterday all sections of buyers competed for the 10,000 bales on offer, ninety per cent. of which were sold. The average prices obtained at last week's sales here were £23 9/1 a bale, or 19.78d. a pound.

FIRE IN GALWAY.

From Our Correspondent.

GALWAY, Monday.

Damage estimated at £1,000 was caused by a fire that broke out in premises in Mainguard street, Galway, early this morning. Four families live in the building, which is owned by Mrs. Connolly, of Ely place, Galway. The fire began on the ground floor of the building, which is four storeys high, and many of the occupants had narrow escapes. In some cases figures could be seen half-dressed fighting their way down the stairs, which threatened to give way at any moment. The Galway Fire Brigade prevented the fire from spreading, but a shop at the back of the premises, owned by Mr. J. Redington, caught fire, and damage to the extent of £100 was caused before the brigade could master the situation. The premises were insured.

A FILM OF THE WEEK.

"LADY FOR A DAY" AT THE GRAFTON.

Given an old apple-seller of the New York slums, with a daughter in Europe who has not seen her since childhood, and who is under the impression that her mother lives in high society. The daughter arrives in America with an aristocratic fiancé, and the mother keeps up the illusion by masquerading as a grande dame. Problem, to make a good film out of this material.

Any ordinary producer might be forgiven if he failed to make anything out of such an impossible situation, and the fact that Frank Capra has very nearly succeeded stamps him as somewhat of a genius.

"Lady for a Day," which is being shown at the Grafton Picture House, Dublin, is a remarkable picture if only for this reason, and the manner in which the fragile plot is handled is worth seeing. Helped by the really fine acting of May Robson, we accept, almost without question, the dilemma in which the old apple-woman finds herself, and her means of escaping from it by dressing up in fine clothes and receiving her guests in someone else's luxurious flat. The illusion is almost perfect, and, strange as it might appear, the film up to this point strikes one as being a very moving and sincere piece of work.

At this point, however, one must imagine that the ruling film magnate, throwing down his cigar, exclaimed: "Boys, I've got a great idea! Let's make it even funnier by having all the gangsters in the place dressing up as ambassadors and coming to a big reception at the flat, so that the daughter and her fiancé will think they are really seeing society." This the unfortunate Frank Capra proceeded to translate into action, and the task proved too much even for him. The frail and carefully built-up illusion was shattered beyond hope; not even the fine acting or the fine photography can prevent one from feeling that one's intelligence is being rather obviously imposed upon. The gangsters, as it happens, do not turn up at the reception after all (owing to the activities of the police), but the aristocracy themselves do so, having heard the facts and being moved by a kindly desire to help Apple Annie out of an awkward situation.

"Lady for a Day" is a good film which took the wrong turning, but even as it stands it is a film that is emphatically worth seeing. Very few pieces of characterisation have been better than that of May Robson as the apple-woman, while Warren William, Jean Parker, Guy Kibbee and Ned Sparks are all excellent. The dialogue is clear-cut and amusing, and the camera-work in one or two places reaches a very high level.

EVANS FOR THE ANTARCTIC AGAIN.

FAR SOUTH CRUISE IN A NAVAL SLOOP.

"Evans of the Broke"—in other words, Vice-Admiral E. R. G. Evans, Commander-in-Chief of the Africa Station—is going South again.

He will set out to renew his acquaintance with the Antarctic regions, in connection with which he is already world famous as an explorer.

Approval has been received from the Lords of the Admiralty for the Admiral to make a cruise in the Antarctic region in H.M. sloop Milford.

The Milford will sail from Simonstown on February 15th, and is due to return on March 2nd. Her cruise will cover a wide area of the great Southern Ocean, and she will probably visit South Georgia and approach the Falkland Islands. She is also to call at Bouvet Island, one of the mystery islands of the Southern Ocean. First noted by a French naval explorer in 1739, the island was lost again for years, and even now its position on the charts is marked as "doubtful."

One of the reasons given for the Milford's cruise is the taking of scientific observations and accurate measurements of magnetic variations. In spite of the great advances made in navigation, relatively little is known regarding magnetic variations affecting the compasses of vessels in these seas, and as a result of the Milford's run south valuable data is expected to be collected. Whaling ships hunt over a large part of this area. The cruise is looked upon as an ordinary routine job of work by the Navy.

FEDERATION OF IRISH INDUSTRIES.

Mr. D. J. O'Donohoe, president, presided at the weekly meeting of the Council of the Federation of Irish Industries on Friday. Satisfaction was expressed at the fact that the new legislation to extend the period of relief of rates from the 1st October, 1933, to the 1st October, 1938, as requested by the Federation in the middle of last year, had been introduced.

A deputation from the Women's Industrial Development Association waited on the Council to seek co-operation in the running of an Ideal Homes Exhibition.

The following have been admitted members of the Federation:—Irish Casing Company, Arbour Hill, Dublin; Edible Products, 10 Island street, Dublin; Strand Manufacturing Company, Ltd.; M. INNISKEEN'S SPLENDID JUMPING IN CHANDLER 'CHASE.

From Our Travelling Correspondent.

WARWICK, Monday Night.

THERE was neither frost nor fog to interfere with racing here this afternoon, and the afternoon passed off well, with plenty of runners for each event. Once again did favourites prove disappointing, and there was only one successful.

This was the good-looking, and I am sure good, American-bred horse, Swift and True, who had beaten Pahokee at Sandown last week. That performance was good enough to cause odds of 9 to 4 to be asked for him when he was saddled for the Wicken Hurdle, and they were duly landed by two lengths and four lengths from Mr. Sandy and Overleaf.

Of the rest of the racing, a rather dismal tale has to be told, so far as the fortunes of favourites were concerned. Blue Mirage, from the same stable as Swift and True, and also American owned, was strongly supported for the Shuckburgh Handicap Hurdle, but whatever chance she may have had was destroyed when she came down after they had gone a little more than half-way.

NESTORIAN BEATEN.

Twelfth Night had then taken it up from Sanbra, but coming to the last flight Tide Table went on and beat Nestorian by two lengths. There did not appear to be much money for the winner, who started at 100 to 8. He had failed when made favourite for a selling race at Hurst Park recently.

Little of the rest of the racing rose much above plating form. Inniskeen, who has been figuring this season in sellers and was bought in the last time he won for 140 guineas, was a very easy winner of the Chandler Handicap Steeplechase, in which he started at 9 to 2, Two Royals being a well-defined favourite.

Inniskeen, who now belongs to Mr. McVittie, who trains him at Lambourn, took up the running when they had gone half-way, and, jumping splendidly throughout, beat John Gilpin by six lengths, with the favourite three more lengths away.

SHILLING WINS BY A HEAD.

Mr. Frank Furlong's Shilling had given two moderate performances since he ran away with a race at Derby before Christmas. He fell last time out. There did not seem much confidence about him in the Amateur Riders' Handicap Steeplechase, which he managed to win by a head from the favourite, Nincompoop.

Nincompoop did not come on the scene until the run-in, and then made up a good deal of ground, but not enough to credit Lord Portman with the stake. Ferrans was going well until he made a bad blunder. Baronet's Heir got rid of his jockey, Lord Normanton, at the first fence.

If the selling races produced modest horses, there were good finishes to them. A pair of outsiders, Good Eye and Derelict, fought out the issue in the steeplechase, and the former won by a neck.

Then the favourite, Tan, was just beaten in the selling hurdle race by Man in the Moon, whom Moloney had dashed into the lead at the last hurdle.

Good Eye was retained by his owner-trainer, Mr. C. A. M. Freake at 140 guineas, and George Beeby let Man in the Moon go to J. Waugh for only sixty guineas.

MR. JOEL'S SELECTED.

I see that Mr. J. B. Joel has taken both Alluvial and Snooker out of the Lincolnshire on the ground that his trainer sees no hope of having either fit when the race takes place in six weeks' time. He has left in Greek Warrior, whom, he says, is easier to get ready than the other two. Greek Warrior cannot be so easy to get ready; for his trainer only produced him once last season, when he ran fourth in a little race in the spring.

The Foxhill Downs, which Mr. Joel now occupies, have always been supposed to afford good going in the winter and spring, and when the late W. R. Robinson used them he won the Lincolnshire three years running with Clorane, Winkfield's Pride and Prince Barcaldine, and won it again some years later.

I am afraid that at the present moment trainers, especially in the provincial centres, are not finding conditions too good for working horses that they want for races early in the season. There has been no long stoppage, but there are never two days the same, and January has been, on the whole, an adverse month.

Mild weather this month is badly needed, but there is no certainty of any sort of settled conditions at present. I believe that Newmarket has been more favoured than some of the downland countries in the matter of weather conditions.

SELECTIONS.

The racing will not rise to a very high level here to-morrow, when the Chandos Handicap Hurdle may be won by TAOS. In the Upton Steeplechase I like the chance of SHAM RUBY, while BALLYORGAN or, in his absence, MELFORT may win the Watergall Hurdle Race.

GALTEE MORE.

BALLYORGAN'S CHANCE.

TOURNAIG GETS THE VOTE FOR UPTON 'CHASE.

THE card arranged for the second stage at Warwick is of modest quality, and, as there are more bad horses than good ones engaged in the half-dozen events, I cannot approach it with any confidence.

As it is decided over three miles, the Upton Steeplechase will probably arouse most enthusiasm, even though the pick of the public performers are getting on in years. One in this category is Gate Book, who is to be the mount of Mr. G. Wood. The thirteen-year-old did not distinguish himself in his last two races, although on neither occasion could any fault be found with his jumping, but earlier he won over the distance at Chepstow, giving such a good stayer as Society a sound six lengths beating. Obviously he must be near the mark here if he can reproduce that running.

Spearwood has forgotten his Cheltenham fall; for he got round safely next time out, and ran well under 12st. 7lb. behind Down South at Leicester. I am not satisfied, however, that be will stay this three miles so well as a few of his opponents. On this score a doubt also exists concerning Sham Ruby, but this six-year-old has scope for improvement, and, recalling how strongly she finished when winning at Hurst Park, I believe she will not fail because of lack of stamina.

Princess Mir, who was well backed last time out, failed to finish in the first eight, and I cannot trust her.

though, has been running forward in fairly useful company, and, being a reliable jumper, I cannot leave him out of it, seeing that he is nicely weighted on the 10st. 10lb. mark. Perhaps, he will prove too good for Sham Ruby, whom I fancy most of the others.

Perthshire Lad, who is trained a few miles from the course at Leamington Spa by S. McGregor, is assured of sound support in the Chandos (Amateurs') Handicap Hurdle, because it was only by a head that he failed to beat Chenango at Wolverhampton. The latter was an unknown quantity then, but his subsequent running paid a big tribute to the form. However, I think who will be the mount of Mr. F. Walwyn, should beat Perthshire Lad at the weights. He won cleverly at Derby, where Battle On, now only 5lb. better treated, was a moderate fifth.

The pick of the Novices' Steeplechase probables are Pol Hill, Surtax and of which I prefer the last-named. He was a splendid second to Down South at Leicester last month, and has probably improved.

BALLYORGAN

in the Watergall Hurdle appeals to me as the safest selection on the card.

HORSES IN TRAINING.

THE CLONBARRON TEAM FOR THE COMING SEASON.

By Our Special Representative.

LAST year the Clonbarron trainer, Jack Ruttle, won for his patrons thirty-eight races, value £2,843, with nineteen of the twenty-six horses under his care. He has a useful string to train for the coming season, and is sure to finish near the top again.

Santaria, who won the Irish Oaks two years ago and who was successful in three King's Plates last season, has been retired, but Stormproof will be given yet another term in training. Stormproof, who has been at the stud, ran several good races last year, and beat Golden Glen decisively over a mile and three-quarters at the Curragh shortly after the latter had run third to Harinero in the Irish Derby. The daughter of Apron and Little Shower ran second, beaten a length, to Soliman's Feast in the Curragh Cesarewitch, and a month later was close up fourth in our Cambridgeshire. Stormproof is a sound stayer, and is somewhat above the ordinary type of handicapper. She is one to follow.

PORTANOB'S PROMISE.

Portanob, a lovely bay filly by Son-in-Law, will likely prove herself a tip-top race mare this year, for she has been backward and is really only coming to her best. At Limerick Junction, on the 31st of last May, Portanob beat Lady Clodagh pretty easily at level weights over a mile and three-quarters, but met with a mishap subsequently which hampered her preparation for the Irish Oaks. She was not thoroughly wound-up for that race, and was well in the rear at the finish, whereas Lady Clodagh ran Salar to half a length. This makes Portanob a very useful filly at her best. She has wintered extremely well, and in the best company Ruttle expects her to more than hold her own.

A very high opinion is held of Ballybrittas, who was never unplaced last year, and won four times out of nine attempts. The son of Torlonia is tremendously speedy and looks like making a big name for himself as a sprinter

The three-year-olds Corrin Cottage, Golden Tol and Ardent View have furnished well during the winter, and on last season's form ought to do good service this year.

There are some very nice two-year-olds at Clonbarron, and the pick of them may well prove to be Mr. O'C. O'Reilly's Knightsbrook. This is a very powerful-looking horse, and I think that about the middle of the year he will prove himself a really high-class youngster.

The brown gelding by Vencedor out of Vici's dam, Rose Jug, is a good mover and shows signs of coming to hand readily, a remark applicable to the filly by Hartford—Radiogram, and to the first foal of Nell Gwynne by Apron.

The Athlone gelding out of Orangeade is a half-brother to the good winners, Orange Girl and Santaria. He is a very pleasing fellow and is sure to race. One to note for an early engagement is the bay daughter of Vencedor—Pince Nez. This sister to Pencedor is a trifle on the small side. The horses in training are:—

FROM THE HUNTING FIELDS.

ISLAND HOUNDS.

Sport with these hounds last week was most enjoyable, Monday and Friday being really good days and Wednesday a very fair day. On Monday, the 29th January, we met at The Island, and the dog hounds distinguished themselves during a very long day's hunting by accounting for each of the five foxes they found. There was quite a large field out for this meet, including a number of visitors, who, one and all, earned great praise from the "natives" for the way they got across the country, and in their turn praised the local hirelings who brought them safely through to the end. We found at once in The Island, and went away first towards Garrybran, but, swinging back left-handed through The Island, we ran to Ballyduff, where our first fox was marked to ground. We next found in Garrybran and ran to Ballinahoun, where this fox got in. He was soon bolted, and hounds hunted on to Wells, where there was another fox on foot; then back towards Ballinahoun before turning right-handed by Raheenaskeagh to Knockscamolin, when he got in again, and was left. The next find was in Leigh's, from where we went away past the Rectory through Robinson's to Killagowan, when scent, which had only been fair, improved, and hounds ran fast by the Rat Hole nearly to Ballytarsna, then left-handed through Garrybran and Ballinahoun to Raheenaskeagh, then left again past Robinson's and the Rectory back to Leigh's. Without delaying there, they hunted over the road towards Dempsey's bog, but, leaving it on the right, they ran on to Kyle, where this fox got to ground not far in front of hounds, after a really nice hunt of one hour and twenty minutes. While marking some hounds opened on another fox. Thinking that it might be our hunted fox, who had bolted, no immediate steps were taken to stop them. After that all efforts were of no avail, and nearly the whole pack ran very fast through Garrymore and Courtclough to Ballyvoodock, then right-handed through Monarig to Ballyconnigar and on to Moreton's Hill to ground. This would have been the best hunt of the day, as, with a screaming scent, hounds ran very fast over a grand line of country, with a four-mile point. However, it was nearly dark and horses were pretty well stone cold.

Hounds were eventually picked up at eight o'clock, and did not get back to kennels till after ten. There was a lot of grief during the day, most riders hitting the ground at least once. Unfortunately, there was one bad accident, Miss Haughton, of Rockspring, losing her nice young horse, which she had trained herself, and who was turning out so well.

On Wednesday, at Scarawalsh, scent was never good. Our first find was in Kipeen, from where we had a sharp gallop to ground in the Sandpits at Marshalstown. A fox found in Ballinakill was hunted to Clare's Hill, then sharp right-handed to Castledockerill. Following a short check here, the quarry ran back to Ballinakill, through the covert at once, and away through Tomadilly and past Marshalstown to Ballydaw, where he had to be left in the thick covert there. We found in Hollyfort in the evening, but scent was so bad that nothing could be done.

On Friday the meet was at Clogh, and the dog hounds had another really hard day, but this time they had their reward in the evening. Scent was very poor in the morning, when hounds found in Errity's Knock and ran to Collishal, then back to Churchtown and on to Errity's and down towards Clogh, when scent failed completely. Our next find was in Ballyclough, from where we had a really nice hunt, scent improving the whole time. From Ballyclough hounds hunted through Whitewell, and on through Swaine's Knock to Ballymore, then left-handed back to Swaine's, another similar ring, and then away again from Swaine's to Ballymore, where they swung left-handed to Ballyeden and on to Whitewell and back past Swaine's to Knockrobin, where hounds killed their fox after a two-hours' hunt.

WARD UNION HOUNDS.

TWO FAST HUNTS.

The meet in Ashbourne village on Saturday was very well attended. The weather was mild and moist, and scent was excellent. A stag enlarged at Rathgate led hounds a merry gallop through Hammondstown and Crickstown, and thence over Crock Hill into the Black Hills of Sutherland. The Sutherland River has lost its terror, thanks to a dry season, and the usual ford into Foxhall was dispensed with, the pack running via Ballybin and Cookstown across the Ratoath road into Staffordstown, and direct into Ashbourne village. This was a five-mile ring in thirty minutes, with quite an exciting finish. Another enlargement was subsequently made on Race Hill, the old Ashbourne racecourse, and a flying hunt went via Dunrea, The Halfs and Milltown in a circle back to Race Hill. Here they headed away through Moor Common and The Rath into the Curragh bog, and crossed the "Pound or Drown" River direct to Borranstown. The stag invaded the farmyard, and was taken after a fast forty minutes without a check.

LOUTH HOUNDS.

From the meet at Glenmore on Wednesday, January 31st, the home coverts at Staleen gorse were drawn blank; but we found at once in the gorse at Rosnaree. Hounds got away on top of their fox, and ran fast over the road towards Cullen House; then swinging left-handed, they went on, with Roughgrange on their left, over Donore Hill to the rocks at Curragubbin, where they lost, after a fast gallop of 45 minutes. There were a brace in Brierly, and the selected one was hunted up to the village of Duleek. Leaving this on their right, hounds ran over the Commons, and, swinging left-handed, then hunted by Garballagh on to Thomastown bog, where they were stopped after another fast gallop of 40 minutes.

On Saturday, February 3rd, the meet was at Mooretown. A fox was holloa'ed away from the covert the moment hounds were put in, and they ran fast by Braystown over the Kells-Collon road, to the foot of Mount Fortescue, where they marked to ground—a fast 20 minutes. Rathbran was blank. There were a brace in Footstown, and after some hunting in the covert, hounds got away with the second fox, and ran by Greater Footstown and on past Mooretown, pointing for Drakestown. Here our fox jumped up out of a ditch in view of hounds, and they ran very fast through Rathbran and up over the hill as if for Grangegeeth; then turning right-handed, they went on by Mount Fortescue, Braystown, and Greater Footstown back into Footstown covert. The time up to this was one hour and 30 minutes. There was a fresh fox in the covert, but hounds stuck to the hunted one, and, pushing him out, ran by Herronstown, and leaving Parsonstown on their left, came back by Davinstown to Footstown covert, where this good fox was unaccounted for, after a great hunt of 2 hours 15 minutes, about 15 miles of country being covered.

BADMINTON.

IRELAND v. ENGLAND.

HOPE OF A HOME VICTORY AT ELM PARK THIS WEEK.

THE all-Ireland championship contests begin on next Thursday, and the public will have the opportunity of seeing first-class badminton on the two following days. The entry is probably more representative of first-class players than any of previous years, and, as there are no handicap events to work off this time, it has been decided to start the championships at 6 o'clock on Thursday evening, when all the leading players will be seen in action, some of them being down for several matches.

All last year's winners are competing, except Miss M. Hamilton, who, owing to a recent illness, cannot take part; and most of the holders of the all-England titles will be competitors. Among these may be mentioned R. M. White, the holder of the all-England singles; White and D. C. Hume, the doubles champions; Hume and Mrs. Uber, the mixed doubles champions. Mrs. Henderson, who, as Miss Bell, won the women's doubles with Miss T. Kingsbury, will compete with the same partner, Miss Kingsbury having entered, though she only figures on the English team as a reserve.

INTERESTING PARTNERSHIPS.

W. Hamilton and Ian Maconachie are playing together in the men's doubles. They have already this season won the Scottish men's doubles, and they will have against them the holders, J. L. Rankin and T. H. Boyle, as well as the English champions, R. M. White and D. C. Hume. In the women's doubles Mrs. Uber and Mrs. Horsley, who won the title in 1930 and 1932, and who won the English title in 1931, will meet the present English champions, Mrs. Henderson and Miss T. Kingsbury, and this should provide a great match.

An interesting pair in the mixed doubles will be the Anglo-Irish combination of Maconachie and Mrs. Horsley, who started playing together this season. They won the Scottish title, but were beaten in the Welsh championship by Hume and Mrs. Uber, who have been supreme in this form of the game for some years, and they will now have an opportunity of obtaining revenge for their Welsh failure when they meet Hume and Mrs. Uber.

It may be mentioned that Ian Maconachie, who, though an Irishman, lives in England, will be making his first appearance in Dublin at this tournament. He is the tallest and heaviest man playing first-class badminton at present, and another Irishman who will be making a first appearance in Dublin will be W. H. Kernohan, who, though a North of Ireland man, now plays all his badminton in Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Kernohan, who is on the Irish team to play England on Friday, plays on the Northumberland County team, and his partner in the men's doubles on that side is S. C. Robson, who figures as a reserve on the present English team, and has entered for the Irish championships.

W. Hamilton, who won out the last Irish Challenge Cup for the men's singles in 1931, won the event again last season. R. M. White, who won in 1932, and who holds the English title, will be a competitor. Hamilton beat White decisively in the final of the Welsh championship this season, and also beat D. C. Hume in a hard-fought semi-final. He will have the opposition of these two men this time, and they will be supported by R. C. F. Nichols, a former All-England champion, so the outcome of this event will be interesting.

The finals of the championships will be played on Saturday evening, and will not begin till 5 o'clock, so that all may have an opportunity of going to the Rugby football international match or some other sporting event beforehand. Reserved seats can be obtained from Messrs. Elvery, Nassau street, and Messrs. Hely, Dame street, Dublin, and the price for the finals has been reduced.

THE INTERNATIONAL.

The International match between Ireland and England will be played at Elm Park on Friday evening, beginning at 5 p.m., and, so far, there has been no official intimation that there will be any change in either team. As, however, Miss M. Hamilton has not entered for the championships, it would appear doubtful that she will be albe to turn out, and it is said that A. Hamilton is another doubtful starter. The reserves are J. McGarry, who played against Scotland, and Miss O. Wilson, who holds the all-Ireland women's singles title. On the English team, L. Nichols, who was originally picked, has not entered for the championships, and, while no intimation that he will not play has been received by the Irish authorities, it appears not unlikely that his place will be taken by S. C. Robson, the Northumberland player, already referred to. The teams as originally selected are:—

IRELAND — T. H. Boyle, A. Hamilton W. Hamilton (captain), Ian Maconachie, W. H. Kernohan, J. L. Rankin, Miss M. Hamilton, Miss N. Stoker, Miss W. Teuton.

ENGLAND—B. P. Cook, D. C. Hume, L. Nichols, R. C. F. Nichols, A. Titherley, R. M. White, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Horsley, Mrs. Uber.

In the men's singles, the duel between W. Hamilton and R. M. White will be fought over again in the first men's singles, and a great match in the men's doubles should be that when Hamilton and Maconachie meet the English champions, Hume and White. Maconachie and Kernohan are both extremely good in mixed doubles, and it is thought that Ireland has a fair chance of pulling off a first win over England, and, at any rate, that they will make a close match of it.

The Midland section of the all-Ireland Junior Cup has been brought out to the final stage, Dalkey and Dawson having qualified to meet. In the first round, Dundrum beat Monkstown 11-10, Dalkey beat Pembroke II. 6-2, Dawson beat Dublin Friends 6-2, and St. Phillip's had a walk-over from Bonzo. In the semi-finals Dalkey beat Dundrum 6-2, and Dawson beat St. Phillip's 6-2.

The present position of the teams in the various sub-sections of the Midland Branch League is shown in the following tables:

DUGGAN SHIELD FINAL POSTPONED.

It was announced at last night's meeting of the Central Council, I.A.B.A., that Ulster would not be able to send a team for the Duggan Shield final against Leinster on Friday night next, and the tournament has been postponed. A new date has not yet been fixed, but it is understood that the venue will be changed to Belfast

It was proposed to hold instead a tournament on Friday between teams representative of the Services and "The Rest," but, after discussion, the matter was deferred to a later date, as the short notice and the intervention of the International Police Championships rendered it difficult to arrange an appropriate programme for the day in question. Such a tournament, however, will be held in the near future.

An invitation to take part in the British Empire Games was declined, as these occur during the Irish "close" season.

QUINLAN QUALIFIES TO MEET MIZLER.

Billy Quinlan, the Welsh light-weight champion, got the decision on a foul in the sixth round of a 15 rounds contest against Douglas Parker, the English Northern champion, in the final eliminating contest for the light-weight championship at Newcastle last night, and so qualified to meet Harry Mizler, the holder. The punch that brought the contest to a finish was a left swing to the body, and the referee, Mr. W. Strelly, of Glasgow, had no hesitation in disqualifying Parker.

COURSING.

WIND-UP AT DONABATE.

PLENTY OF HARES AND FINE COURSING.

By Our Coursing Correspondent.

THE Champion Puppy Stakes final for dogs will be the feature of the card at the Dunshaughlin meeting next week (the draw will be held in the City Arms Hotel, Prussia street on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock), and it was in the fitness of things that Mr. William Duffy's Kilrue got to the end of the qualifying stakes at Donabate yesterday.

Mr. Duffy, one of the original members of the Dunshaughlin Club and one of the oldest of the Irish Cup nominators, has always been a pillar of his club and a thick-and-thin supporter of open coursing, and it was not out of his turn that he now raised the requisite number of flags. Another popular success was the division of the Newbridge Stakes, in which Mrs. Collin's Kilbarrack Boy shared the honours with Mr. P. Doyle's Slaney Hill Girl, her husband being Joint Master with Mr. Alex. Craigie of the Fingal Harriers. Kilbarrack Boy was very hard run in a well-contested first course with Mr. Robert Craigie's Noinin's Dream, but he ran on gamely to get the flags over William I. and Controversy.

It was a perfect day for open coursing and there was no scarcity of game; but the hares beat the dogs almost throughout the day. In fact, the hares were so strong and fast that they made even the all-ages look a moderate lot, and long courses were the rule. Only one stake was run out, the Champion Puppy, in which Kilrue asserted a marked superiority over his opponents, his last course against Black Darby being his smartest performance. He led a couple of lengths, and, commanding his hare resolutely, had more than three-fourths of it. He may, however, have had a bit too much, in view of the nearness of the final at Dunshaughlin.

Mr. T. A. Bruton's Czar and Mr. J. O'Brien's Ayrfield Ruby divided the Corballis Stakes. Czar showed fair puppy pace, but was rather loose in the working, and a smarter puppy on the scut is Ayrfield Beauty. Miss Phelan's Passing Promise and Mr. McCreary's Amy the Flyer divided the Kilcrea Stakes, but except for the grand hares and the length of the trials, there were no particular features.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

PRATT TO PLAY ON SATURDAY.

RUSSELL'S DECISION EXPECTED TO-DAY.

IT is definitely announced that R. H. Pratt (Dublin University) will take his place at full-back on the Irish team to meet England at Lansdowne road next Saturday, having recovered from the injury that he sustained recently.

The injury which Jack Russell, the U.C.C. and Irish forward, sustained to his hand during last Saturday's Munster League match in Limerick is not so serious as at first feared, it was learned yesterday. At the same time there is still a doubt as to his ability to play in next Saturday's International, but nothing definite can be stated pending an X-Ray examination of the hand, which has not yet taken place. A definite announcement may, it was stated yesterday evening, be expected to-day.

DUN'S FOR HOSPITALS' CUP FINAL.

DUN'S .... 11 ST. VINCENT'S ... 10

The second semi-final match in the Dublin Hospitals' Cup, played in the College Park yesterday, between St. Vincent's, the holders, and Dun's resulted, after a very hard-fought game, in a win for Dun's in the last minute of the game, by a single point—a goal from a try, a penalty goal and a try, to two goals from tries. There were many stoppages for injuries, and Patton, the Dun's scrum-half, was off the field for some time.

St. Vincents were getting possession at the start, but Dun's backs soon got moving, and Good had three good runs to the line, while Walker missed dropping a goal, and Jewell was wide with a free. St. Vincent's then broke away, and Houlihan sent Bermingham over after a quarter of an hour, for Curran to convert, and this was the only score in the first half. On restarting, after level play, Barry and O'Sullivan put St. Vincents pressing, and Houlihan scored from a rush for Curran to add the points. Dun's then attacked, and Jewell landed a penalty, and a good movement a few minutes later ended in Cochrane scoring far out, Jewell's kick failing. The extra weight in the Duns' pack began to tell, and after Barry had helped St. Vincents to attack and O'Sullivan had been wide with a drop, Dun's rushed away, Jewell slipping over close to goal in the last minute of the match for a clever try, which he converted, to pull the game out of the fire. The winners now meet Mater in the final.

D. G. Walker, the Old Wesley full-back, was very sound for the winners, and Stanford for St. Vincents was no way behind him for usefulness Good and Cochrane were the best of the Dun's three-quarters, Jewell was effective at out-half, and Jackson, Graham, McCaughey and Shier the best of the forwards. Houlihan and Bermingham were the best of the St. Vincents' "threes," Barry and O'Sullivan enterprising halves, and Curran, Macauley and Cullen the best of the pack.

C.B.S. (DUN LAOGHAIRE) 0

The first round of the Junior Schools' Cup was advanced a further stage yesterday when, at Donnybrook, St. Andrew's College beat C.B.S. (Dun Laoghaire) and St. Mary's College (Rathmines) defeated C.U.S. The St. Andrew's boys had the advantage in both height and weight, and ran out easy winners by 1 goal and 3 tries to nil. In every department the Andrew's side held the upper hand, but C.B.S. put up a very stout defence, and with more experience of the game will develop into a useful team.

W Brooks, the out-half on the Andrew's side, was the outstanding back on the field, and in everything he did he showed a perfect knowledge of the game, Robinson was sound at full-back, and Anderson was smart in the centre. Stephens, Smyth and Kearon were the most noticeable forwards. On the C.B.S. side, Harris, Quirke and Dolan were the most prominent backs, and the best forwards were Hughes, O'Shea and G. Whelehan.

The Andrew's boys had much the better of the opening half, and, after ten minutes' play, Wolfe opened the scoring when, from a scrum, he slipped over for a try, which was not converted. Anderson put Andrew's further ahead with a clever try, to which Brooks added the extra points. The play continued to go in favour of St. Andrew's, though C.B.S. put in some spirited attacks, and in the second period Hemingway scored two tries, neither of which was converted. The teams were:—

St. Andrew's College—J. B. Robinson; H. Craigie J. W. Anderson, L. Collen, J. Hemingway; W. Brooks, F. Wolfe; J. Lawrie, E. Stephens, J. Roche A. H. Weir, A. Smyth, H. Mitchell, K. Kearon, G. Ashenhurst.

C.B.S. (Dun Laoghaire)—P Glynn; P. Harris, D. Brennan, P. Dolan, J. Quirke; T. Dolan, J. Whelehan; G. Whelehan, T. Hughes, J. Gilthorpe, B. O'Shea, G. Moore, G. O'Mahony, B. O'Reilly, M. Murphy.

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE (RATHMINES) .. 17
C.U.S. 14

After a keen game, St. Mary's passed into the second round at the expense of C.U.S., and thoroughly deserved to do so. The score was 1 goal from a try, 1 penalty goal and 3 tries to 2 goals from tries and 1 dropped goal (17 points to 14) The Rathmines College were superior in virtually every phase of the play, and but for a stolid defence by C.U.S. the margin would have been a larger one. In the first half M. Scott scored for Mary's, following a pass by Becker, and J. Hooper got over, for M. Scott to convert. Early in the second period E. Dalton added a further try which was not converted. After this C.U.S. took over the attack, and A. McElhinney dropped a goal, and followed this up by scoring a try, which H. Tunney converted. M. Scott replied with a try for St. Mary's, and Becker also registered a try, but before the end McNamara crossed for C.U.S. and Tunney again converted.

R. Becker, I. Hooper, P. Scott and D. Ryan (backs), and T. Walker, M. Scott and E. Dalton (forwards) were outstanding players for St. Mary's, and for C.U.S. the most noticeable were Troy, A. McElhinney, F. Kenney and B. Dawson (backs), and O'Reilly, Calahan and Carey (forwards) were the pick. The teams were:—

St. Mary's College—D. O'Cadhlaigh; N. Hooper, R. Becker, I. Hooper, P. Scott; R. Ryan, D. Smith; E. Nolan, T. Walker, M. Scott, L. Foley, E. Dalton, D. McGuinness, C. A. Kelly, G. Boyd.

C.U.S.—K. Troy; B. Ellis, A. McElhinney, F. Kenney, J. D'Arcy; H. Tunney, B. Dawson; T. O'Reilly, C. Calahan, T. Kenny, E. Lalor, J. McNamara, J. Carey, N. Bodan, S. Robb

MUNSTER'S NARROW DEFEAT.

PROVINCIAL HONOURS FOR LEINSTER.

By Our Special Correspondent.

AFTER a lapse of more years than we care to remember Leinster has won the interprovincial championship. For many seasons past the standard of hockey here has been far behind that of Ulster or Munster. However, last year we showed a marked improvement and finished second to Munster, and this year the improvement continued to such an extent that our XI. came out on top.

Last Saturday's match against Munster at Cork proved to be the closest of the three, Leinster winning by 3-2. The game was a good one, played at a fine pace, and it was the better finish of the Leinster forwards, together with the great play of Miss Parsons, that proved the deciding factor. Munster were unfortunate in losing their left half, Miss J. Mahony, before half-time, a double amount of work devolving on Miss Kearney (centre half) for the remainder of the match.

The Leinster forwards were all in good form, with Miss Moore (inside right) most prominent. Miss McKay worked splendidly in the centre, her stick-work in netting the winning goal being excellent. Misses French and Coleman showed very good understanding on the left wing, while Miss Brindley, on the right, showed plenty of speed.

CLEVER HALF-BACKS.

However, better use might have been made of their opportunities, especially in the second half, when Munster were handicapped by Miss Mahony's absence. The halves showed up to great advantage. Miss Tackaberry was again the pick of the trio, but neither of the wing halves was very far behind this time. Miss Huet proved a source of continual worry to Miss Widger, while Miss Connell, though beaten for speed on a few occasions by Miss Barry, always managed to get back to the circle in time to prevent the left wing from scoring.

After a shaky first half, Miss V. Mahony settled down to a good game at left back, while her partner, Mrs. O'Reilly, was her usual sound self. Miss Parsons once again gave a brilliant display in goal, and made only one mistake throughout a strenuous game, in which Munster held the advantage territorially for more than half the time.

We shall be very disappointed if Miss Parsons does not get her place on the Irish XI. this year—in fact, the only thing to stop her is the greater experience of Mrs. Gordon and Miss Carter.

MISS BARRY OUTSTANDING.

Miss Barry, the Munster left-wing, was the outstanding player on the field, and we certainly will have no difficulties regarding this position on the Irish XI. this year. Miss Harman combined well with Miss Barry, but her shooting, at times, was very faulty. Miss McSwiney was much too slow in the centre, and neither Miss Heffernan nor Miss Widger was as good as usual.

Miss Kearney (centre), though badly hampered by overwork in the second half, played very well, and there was little to choose between her and Miss Tackaberry. Miss Daly was well up to her best form at full-back, while Miss K. Barry completed an excellent partnership, which was in no way to blame for the Southern defeat.

CONNAUGHT FAIL AGAIN.

Connaught suffered another heavy defeat on Saturday, when Ulster beat them by 11 goals to nil. Individually some of the Connaught side were very good, but there were a few weak spots that made anything in the nature of combined play out of the question. The wings—Misses Noone and Delaney—though lacking any support, showed plenty of dash, and made several valiant attempts to score. The backs, too, played well, but were no match for the experienced Ulster forwards. Mrs. Towers signalised her first appearance on the Ulster side this year by scoring five goals. Misses Strahan and McCann, too, were shooting well, and had three each to credit. Miss Marshall was outstanding at half, but Miss Corkey has been seen to greater advantage. Whatever chances Connaught had of scoring they were completely spoiled by Mrs. Gordon's sound play in the Ulster goal.

Loreto Past scored a 2-0 win over Monkstown in a League match on Saturday, while in club games, Optimists 2nd beat Muckross 4-1; Maids of the Mountain went down 3-1 to U.C.D.; Pembroke Wanderers 1st beat their second string 5-2, and Newcomes and Old College played a 2-all draw.

MOTOR HITS WATER TROUGH.

DRIVER GETS MONTH IN PRISON.

(BEFORE MR. McCARTHY.)

A sentence of one month's imprisonment was imposed on Alexander J. Burden, Bellevue, Kilkenny, for being drunk in charge of a motor car at St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, after midnight on Saturday last.

Garda evidence showed that defendant ran his motor car into the water trough at St. Stephen's Green. On getting out of the car he swayed and smelt of drink.

Defendant said that he had hired the car, and the steering was somewhat stiff. He had a slight skid at the top of Dawson street and crashed into the trough. He was thrown forward on the steering wheel, and got a blow on the face which dazed him.

Mr. McCarthy said that the case was a painful one, but he would have to send the defendant to prison for a month.

Mr. J. V. Brady, solicitor for defendant, asked for a fine instead, as his client held a responsible position, and the sentence would be a serious matter for him.

Mr. McCarthy refused the application, but fixed bails in case of an appeal.

POSSESSION OF FIREARMS.

FOUR YOUNG MEN CHARGED.

Four young men, aged from 19 to 21 years, were charged with offences under the Firearms Act. They were:—Ernest Perrin, electrician, 7 Pembroke Gardens; Henry Cahill, motor mechanic, 21a Donnybrook road; John Duggan, 45 Belgrave square, Monkstown; and Thomas MacMahon, Brooklawn, Donnybrook, Dublin.

Inspector P. Brennan charged Perrin and Duggan with the possession of a small eight-chamber revolver of the sports type. Perrin, Cahill and MacMahon were charged with the possession of a six-chambered Smith and Wesson revolver of the British Army pattern. Perrin was also charged with purchasing the sports weapon from Duggan, and the latter was charged with selling it. Perrin and Cahill were charged with stealing the Smith and Wesson revolver from the drawer of a sewing machine in the house, 2 Brooklawn.

Guard M. Dunphy (90E) stated that, with Guard Finnegan (156E), he arrested Perrin at Donnybrook, and found a small revolver in his inside pocket. Perrin said he had bought it from Duggan for 7s. 6d.

Inspector Brennan read statements made by all the accused men in turn. Duggan said he found the small weapon on the front at Seapoint, and took it home as a curiosity.

Perrin and Cahill stated that when visiting MacMahon's house they saw the Smith and Wesson revolver in a sewing machine drawer. On a later occasion Perrin took the revolver while alone in the room. Perrin then lent the revolver to Cahill, who gave it back to Thomas MacMahon on the latter paying 5s. due to him.

When MacMahon was shown these statements in Donnybrook Station he went with Guard Keenan to his house and handed over the Smith and Wesson, which, he said, he found in a rabbit burrow.

Mr. R. A. Burke, solicitor for Duggan, said that the weapon in connection with which his client was charged was only a toy, a kind of starter's pistol, firing blank cartridge.

Mr. McCarthy remarked that it looked a dangerous weapon, and he would not like to be at the wrong end of it.

Duggan, in evidence, said he was satisfied that the weapon was a toy. After finding it he took it home, and then sold it to Perrin for 7s. 6d.

Mr. Burke said that the sale took place quite openly.

Henry Cahill said he only kept the Smith and Wesson for a few days because MacMahon owed him 5s.

MacMahon did not think the 5s. had anything to do with the matter. He found the gun and kept it out of curiosity.

All four youths denied being members of any organisation.

Inspector Brennan said that the charges were serious; but until this incident he had not heard of anything against the accused, all of whom belonged to respectable families. The small revolver was a firearm within the meaning of the Act, and required a permit, whilst the other was a formidable weapon in good working order.

On the charges relating to the sports revolver Duggan and Perrin were bound to the peace for twelve months on their own surety of £5.

On the charges relating to the Smith and Wesson revolver, MacMahon was sentenced to one month's imprisonment, and Cahill and Perrin to fourteen days' imprisonment each. In the event of their deciding to appeal, bail was fixed at £20 and two sureties of £10 each.

ALLEGED THEFT OF MOTOR CAR.

David Stanley (24), traveller, 142 Merrion road, and Robert Slevin (27), clerk, 7 Charlemont place, were charged with conspiring to steal a Morris Cowley motor car, value £80, the property of Frank Gordon, 8 Fleet street, about 7 o'clock on Friday evening from where it was parked in Fleet street; with driving it without the consent of the owner; with illegal possession of it, and with damaging it.

Mr. T. Clarke (Chief State Solicitor's office) prosecuted. Mr. James Cawley (instructed by Messrs. O'Hanlon and Robinson) appeared for Stanley, and Mr. James J. O'Connor for Slevin.

Detective Officer Madden gave evidence of the arrest of the defendants, who, when charged, made no statement.

Mr. Cawley applied for bail.

Detective Officer Madden strongly opposed, stating that this was a sequel to the Navan exploit described in the newspapers, and there might be other charges.

Mr. Cawley said that the newspaper accounts were highly coloured.

The defendants were remanded in custody until Thursday.

MOTOR WEIGHTS CASE.

DIRECTOR RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

After a seven days' hearing, during which over eighty witnesses were examined for the prosecution, William Frackleton Poole, company director, Ballybar, Westfield road, Harold's Cross, Dublin (Messrs. W. F. Poole and Co., Westland row), was returned for trial on bail of £400, on a charge of conspiracy, with others, to defraud the Road Fund by making false representations as to the weight of motor commercial vehicles, and thus securing the issue of licences for them at a less rate than that to which they were properly liable.

Mr. J. A. McCarthy, K.C., and Mr. M. J. Connolly (instructed by Mr. D. O'Donovan, of the Chief State Solicitor's office) prosecuted; and Mr. Cecil Lavery, K.C.; Mr. Basil McGuckin, K.C., and Mr. J. Mooney (instructed by Mr. J. W. Lane) defended.

Mr. O'Neill, manager, Coombe Coach Works, Dublin, gave evidence as to the building of various bodies, and also regarding the alteration of bodies, some of which work was carried out after the date on which the vehicles were weighed for registration.

Similar evidence was given by Timothy Regan, of the Dublin Vehicle Builders, Summerhill, regarding twelve vehicles.

After further evidence,

Mr. McGuckin, K.C., for defendant, said he did not propose to call evidence at that stage.

Mr. Little returned the case for trial, and stated that, in order to prevent inconvenience to business men engaged in it, he had insisted on getting a substitute for the other court work. Cases of that importance should, he thought, always be heard continuously.

INSTITUTION OF CIVIL ENGINEERS.

A general meeting of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Ireland was held last night in the Hall, 35 Dawson street, Dublin, Mr. L. J. Kettle, president, presiding.

A paper on the "Electrical Development of Northern Ireland," by Mr. C. R. Westlake, Chief Engineer and Manager, Northern Ireland Electricity Board, and Mr. D. Sayers, was read at the meeting.

Mr. M. J. Buckley, in proposing a vote of thanks, said that it was a happy event that two men from the Six Counties should present their views on the important subject of electricity. He hoped that they would have many such visits in the future.

The vote was seconded by Mr. J. Monahan.

Dr. McLaughlin, who supported the vote, said that while it was clear that improvement in generation costs helped to cheapen electricity, there was even greater scope for effort in improving the economy of distribution.

Colonel O'Brien also spoke.

The following were elected associate members of the organisation:—Vernon Dunbavin Harty, B.A., Dublin; Daniel Herlihy, B.E., Cork, and Rupert Meyer Young, B.A., Dublin

DANES AND ENGLISH FARMERS PLEASED.

"The only people who at the present moment can without any qualms of conscience shout 'Up, the Republic' and 'Up, de Valera' are the English farmers and our Danish rivals in the English markets," said Mr. J. M. O'Sullivan, T.D., at a League of Youth meeting in Listowel, Co. Kerry. "If the English market is of such a negligible quantity, why is it that every other nation in the world is anxious to get into it? We see Danes, Swedes, Poles, and Norwegians falling over each other in their eagerness to get into it. Why is it that in order to get into that market they are ready to make serious sacrifices and enter into trade bargains and practically buy themselves a place in it? If the English market is worthless, why is it that we are paying bounties? The taxpayers of this country are paying in bounties millions of money in order to keep the diminishing hold that we have in that market, and if that hold has been seriously diminished in the last two years, the blame and the responsibility falls upon our present Government."

GREAT VICTORY FOR QUIST.

PERRY BEATEN IN THE FOURTH TEST.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

A. K. Quist, the young South Australian, enhanced his prospects of becoming Australia's leading singles player, by beating F. J. Perry by 2-6, 6-2, 6-3, on the final day of the fourth Test match between Great Britain and Australia. Quist attacked at the net and appeared to surprise Perry, who attempted to slow up the game. In the second set Quist scored with sizzling sideline shots.

H. G. N. Lee beat J. Crawford by 3-6, 6-4, 7-5. Neither player played up to his usual form in the first set. Despite strong serving by Crawford, Lee won the second and third sets to win the match.

LAST MATCH DECIDES.

Great Britain drew up to 6-5 when F. J. Perry and G. P. Hughes beat Quist and Turnbull in the doubles by 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 7-5. The British pair did not combine well together at the start, and at this stage Quist was the best player of the four. Perry improved in the later stages. Quist's service weakened, but Turnbull's strengthened. The game was notable for a succession of rallies.

Australia won the Test by seven matches to five. In the final match of the series Crawford and Hopman beat Lee and Wilde by 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

ROGERS IN GREAT FORM IN SOUTH AFRICA.

The international Lawn Tennis Club Team consisting of Mr. A. Wallis Myers (captain), E. Maier, the Spanish champion, G. Lyttleton Rogers and H. G. N. Cooper, and R. N. Tinkler (Oxford Blues) which has been touring South Africa, returned to England yesterday.

Mr. Wallis Myers said that of eight matches played the side had won four, drawn three and lost one. "Our only defeat was in one of the Test matches against South Africa at Durban," he said. "In the Tests at Johannesburg and Capetown we required only one point for victory, but in each case the matches were left drawn. Lyttleton Rogers was in excellent form, he beat Norman Farquharson three times out of four matches, and Robbins, the South African champion, twice."

FARMER'S SUDDEN DEATH.

When returning from Mass at Inistioge Parish Church, County Kilkenny, on Sunday morning, Matthew Drea (40), farmer, Kilmacshane, collapsed on the road and died immediately. When his body was removed to his house his young wife fell unconscious, and is in a critical condition.

Rita Sartori, a 14-year-old girl, was killed when a ski broke away from the foot of a ski-jumper at Gallio, Italy, writes Reuter. Flying through the air at great speed, the ski struck the child's head, killing her instantly.

NEWBRIDGE WOMAN'S WILL.

CARLOW COLLEGE TO BENEFIT.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

An application was heard in the matter of the trusts of the will of Mrs. Bridget Kelly, late of Great Connell, Newbridge, Co. Kildare—Rev. Laurence Brophy, P.P., Newbridge, plaintiff, and Laurence Malone, Rev. Patrick Murray, Superior, Redemptorists, and the Attorney-General, defendants. It appeared that Mrs. Bridget Kelly died in March, 1929, leaving considerable assets. She left her lands at Great Connell, consisting of 109 acres, to the Redemptorists to build a seminary for the education of Redemptorist priests, subject to the celebration of Mass for her and her relatives. The Redemptorist Order found it impracticable to carry out the provisions, and refused the bequest.

Mr. P. J. McEnery (instructed by Mr. John S. O'Connor), for the Attorney-General, moved that the funds, being the product of the sale of the lands, now amounting to £516 10s., be disposed of in the following way:—That they be paid to the trustees of St. Patrick's College, Carlow, on the terms set forth in an undertaking signed by the trustees on 5th December last. By this undertaking, the trustees of St. Patrick's College, Carlow, and Knockbeg College undertook to have ten Masses celebrated every year for the testatrix by the priests of the College, and also to provide a bursary for the education to the priesthood of a student from time to time from the parish of the testatrix, such students, when ordained, to celebrate Masses for the testatrix in a manner to be fixed by the Holy See or the Bishop. The trustees were Most Rev. Dr. Cullen, Bishop of Kildare and Leighlin; Monsignor Michael J. Murphy, Very Rev. John Delaney, P.P., and Very Rev. Laurence Brophy, P.P.

—Mr. Justice Johnston made the order sought.

Mr. R. S. Hogan (instructed by Mr. P. O'Toole) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Ashley Powell (instructed by Messrs. Brown and McCann), for the defendant, Mr. Laurence Malone.

POSSESSION OF TIPPERARY LANDS.

A TENANCY QUESTION.

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON AND MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN.)

An appeal was listed in a case of Andrew Francis Butler Jackson, of 8 Gordon road, Monton, Eccles, Lancashire, against Mrs. Bridget McCarthy, of the Hermitage, Ballymackey, Tipperary, in which the plaintiff claimed to recover possession of the lands of Killowney Little, in the Barony of Upper Ormond, Co. Tipperary, containing 82 acres and 26 perches, on the ground that more than one year's rent was is arrear. The rent reserved under a lease of July 4, 1859, was £90 a year.

The plaintiff obtained a decree in the High Court, and from that decision the defendant appealed on the following grounds:—(1) That the lands of Killowney were at all material times tenanted land within the meaning of the Land Act of 1923; (2) that the lands were returned as tenanted lands by the plaintiff to the Land Commission in 1923, and were treated as such by the plaintiff up to April, 1931, and that it was not now competent for the plaintiff to say that they were not tenanted lands; (3) that by its own order, dated July 20, 1932, the Supreme Court had determined that these lands were held under lease for lives, of which one life was still subsisting, and that the lands, at the date of the death of James McCarthy, devolved upon the personal representative as part of his personal estate, and that they were consequently tenanted lands within the meaning of the Land Act; (4) that the remedy of the plaintiff, if any, was to prove for his debt in the administration proceedings of the late James McCarthy; (5) that the summary summons was defective by reason of the fact that the heir-at-law of James McCarthy was not joined as a party to the proceedings.

The Supreme Court made an order adjourning the appeal and staying further proceedings generally if £100 cash be paid to the landlord within a week, and if notice be lodged with the Land Commission within a week to have the lands declared tenanted lands. In default of payment or lodgment of the notice with the Land Commission, the appeal would be dismissed, with costs.

Mr. E. J. Kelly, K.C., and Mr. Art O'Connor (instructed by Mr. James Tanham) appeared for the appellant; and Mr. Jellett, K.C., and Mr. A. E. Corbett (instructed by Mr. Peter M. Seales) for the respondent.

STRUCK BY LORRY.

JUDGMENT FOR £300.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE.)

A settlement was announced in an action of Christopher Murphy, heating engineer, of 32 Queen street, Dublin, against John Wynne, lorry owner, of Main street, Longford, in which the plaintiff claimed damages for injuries caused to him by his being struck by the defendant's motor lorry at the junction of Dominick street and Dorset street, on the 3rd of last April. The defence was a denial of the negligence and a plea of contributory negligence. The plaintiff pleaded contributory negligence.

Mr. Martin Maguire, K.C., who, with Mr. Felix Sherry (instructed by Messrs. Vincent and Beatty), appeared for the plaintiff, asked that judgment be entered by consent for the plaintiff for £300, including costs.

Mr. Justice O'Byrne entered judgment for the plaintiff for the amount stated.

Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C., and Mr. Barra O'Briain (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) appeared for the defendants.

CAR ON FOOTPATH.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

An action of Miss Muriel Wallace, of 7 Almeida terrace, Kilmainham, Dublin, against Kenneth Coard, of Rockbrook, Rathfarnham, Dublin, was listed for the assessment of damages.

It was stated that Miss Wallace was walking from Rathfarnham towards Willbrook on the 15th April, 1933, when the defendant's motor car mounted the footpath and knocked her down. She was severely crushed and suffered from shock.

Mr. Justice Hanna assessed damages at £150.

Mr. Kingsmill Moore (instructed by Mr. J. R. Cresswell) appeared for the plaintiff.

There was no appearance for the defendant.

KILLED BY HORSE ON ROAD.

WOMAN AWARDED £500.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

An action of Mrs. Molly Sisson, of 11 Maxwell street, Dublin, against James Cosgrave, a farmer, of Mountainview, Churchtown, Dundrum, Co. Dublin, came before the Court for the assessment of damages. The plaintiff claimed damages for the loss of her husband, Herbert Sisson, a watchmaker, whose death, she alleged, was caused through the negligence of the defendant in allowing horses to stray on the road at Stillorgan on the 30th September, 1930.

It appeared that the late Mr. Sisson was driving a motor cycle on the Stillorgan road, and was knocked down by one of the defendant's horses. He died on the following day.

Mr. Justice Hanna assessed damages at £500.

Mr. Cawley (instructed by Mr. S. G. Rutherford) appeared for the plaintiff.

There was no appearance for the defendant.

Property owners should insure against Public Liability. Write for terms.—Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society, 63 Dawson St., Dublin. J. G. Aston, Mgr. (Advt.)

DIVORCE PETITION GRANTED.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Shine, of Clarinda Park, West, Dun Laoghaire, petitioned for a divorce from her husband, John Shine, on the ground of cruelty.

The suit was undefended.

It appeared that the parties were married in the Roman Catholic Church, Elphin, in June, 1909, and there were two children of the marriage. The address of the respondent was at present unknown.

Mr. Justice Hanna, having heard evidence, said that it was quite clear that the petitioner was entitled to the relief that she sought. There was prima facie evidence that the respondent had acted towards the petitioner, not only with threats, but with actual violence, with the result that the petitioner's health had been affected. Accordingly, he granted the decree asked for.

Mr. Cawley (instructed by Messrs. D. D. MacDonald and Co.) appeared for the petitioner.

CHILD'S NAME ON "SWEEP" TICKET.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

Mr. Bacon (instructed by Mr. F. V. Gordon, general solicitor for minors) applied for the payment to Joan Florence Gepheart and David John Gepheart, the children of Robert Henry Jasper Gepheart and Daisy Grace Gepheart, 87b Frazenburg road, Bovington Camp, Wareham, Dorset, of such shares of the money to which they were entitled, the money being a prize of £1,500 in the Irish Hospitals' Sweep on the Derby last year.

Counsel stated that the father and mother and George Reginald Legg (an uncle of the children) had, between them, provided the money to purchase five tickets, and it was arranged that the names of the five people concerned should be put on the tickets, one name on each ticket. The winning ticket stood in the name of one of the minors.

Mr. Justice Meredith made an order transferring to the credit of the minor matter two-fifths of the money, and directed that the balance be paid to the father, mother and uncle, in the proportion of one-fifth each.

Mr. Tobias (instructed by Messrs. Porter Morris and Co.) appeared for the father, mother and uncle of the minors.

BREACH OF PROMISE ACTION SETTLED.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

In a case of Miss Leah Price, of 51 Nolton street, Bridgend, Cardiff, against Joseph Woolfe, of 33 Dufferin avenue, Dublin, which was an action for damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage, and in which the defendant denied that he promised to marry the plaintiff,

Mr. Albert E. Wood, K.C., with whom was Mr. Sherry (instructed by Mr. Herman Good and Messrs. Sam Cohen, Tyrrell and Morris), for the plaintiff, said that the action had been settled and might be struck out. A sum of £50 had been lodged in court by the plaintiff as security for costs, and he asked that that money should be paid out to her.

Mr. Justice Hanna directed that the £50 should be paid out to the plaintiff, and struck the action out of the list.

Mr. Carson, K.C., and Mr. Cawley (instructed by Mr. S. G. Rutherford) appeared for the defendant.

The terms of the settlement were not stated.

FALSE PRETENCES CHARGES.

ALLEGED BOGUS COLLECTOR FOR U.I.P.

At Shankill District Court yesterday, Christopher Clarke, Brookfield place, Blackrock, Co. Dublin, was sent for trial by District Justice Reddin on a number of charges that he had obtained, and had attempted to obtain, money by false pretences, having, it was alleged, falsely represented himself as a collector for the Young Ireland Association.

He had been remanded from the District Court at Dundrum.

Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C., swore that on the 12th of January Clarke came to his house and asked for a subscription to the Young Ireland Association. Clarke produced a list of names of people from whom, he said, he had obtained subscriptions in 1933. Witness's name, mis-spelled, appeared on the list. Clarke also brought out a bundle of forms with a heading, "Young Ireland Association." He said the money was being collected for the "Blue Shirts," and witness said that he should not have had the forms, as the Young Ireland Association had been dissolved

Rev. E. Barker, Holy Trinity Rectory, Killiney, said a man whom he believed to be Clarke called upon him, and sought money for the League of Youth. The man said they wanted to buy blue shirts, and that there were 200 members in the district.

Mrs. Vera Holmes, Killiney, deposed that Clarke called at her house and asked for money for a "youth movement," the local branch of which required the money for organising football matches, theatricals, etc. Witness subscribed 5s..

Henry P. Mayne, Killiney, said Clarke called at his house "on behalf of the Young Ireland Association," but witness refused to give him a subscription.

Guard Turley said he found a number of forms headed "Young Ireland Association" at the residence of a brother of Clarke.

Miss Kathleen Ferguson, Downshire road, Bray, who appeared in court wearing a blue blouse under her overcoat, swore that there was no men's section of the League of Youth in Bray, and she was the leader of the women's section there. On December 5th, Clarke called upon her and said he had been sent by the local secretary of the United Ireland Party. He called again, and obtained twenty membership forms from witness, saying that a branch of the "Blue Shirts" should be formed. She did not authorise him to make a house-to-house collection.

The accused man was returned for trial, in custody.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT (CRIMINAL) COURT.

CHASE AFTER STOLEN CAR.

THIEF CRASHED AND DROVE ON.

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

An exciting chase of a motor car, travelling at between 40 and 50 miles an hour, by a Civic Guards' motor-cycle patrol, was described to the Court yesterday, when Frederick Scuffle, of 4 St. Michael's terrace, Blackpitts, Dublin, was charged with stealing a motor car.

The owner of the car, Mr. Joseph Gordon, Park View House, Harold's Cross, said that on November 8 last he drove his car into the city. It was subsequently taken away without his permission.

Guard Michael Walsh, stated that he was a member of a motor-cycle patrol, and on November 8th, at Parnell road, he saw an Austin "Seven" motor car, which had been reported as having been stolen. As the patrol's motor-cycle stopped the car moved off, and the patrol immediately started in pursuit. They turned into Crumlin, where the driver of the car endeavoured to force the motor-cycle into a ditch. The Guards then signalled to a Mr. Knowles, who was driving another car, to get in front of the car driven by Scuffle.

At Milltown, where part of the road was under repair, Mr. Knowles stopped his motor in front of the Austin. Scuffle crashed into the right rear mudguard of it, drove up on to the footpath, hit the wall of a cottage—tearing off the door of the car—and then struck the motor-cycle. He drove on, however, with the police still in pursuit, and passed through Dartry, Terenure, Rathfarnham and Donnybrook. At Leeson Street Bridge, Scuffle succeeded in eluding his pursuers. Witness added that he saw the driver's face during the chase, and later picked him out at an identification parade.

The prisoner, Scuffle, gave evidence as to his movements during the day, and denied that he was the culprit.

The accused man's father, Mr. Albert J. Scuffle, also testified that his son was at his home during the period in which the prisoner was alleged to be driving the stolen car.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and the prisoner was discharged.

Mr. Tadgh Forbes (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted.

THEFT OF OVERCOATS

Thomas Duffy, a young man, whose home was at Donaghmore, Dundalk, and who had been a soldier in the Free State Army, pleaded guilty to a series of charges of stealing overcoats, and was sentenced to six months in jail, with hard labour.

GIRL KILLED BY MOTOR.

DRIVER OF CAR EXONERATED.

Before District Justice Reddin at Shankill District Court yesterday, Oswald Giddings, of Hollybrook road, Clontarf, was charged with the manslaughter of Pauline Dunne in an accident which occurred on the Dublin-Bray road at Cabinteely on December 23rd.

Superintendent Sheridan represented the Civic Guard, and Mr. E. H. Burne defended.

Dr. Joshua Pim stated that Miss Dunne died in Loughlinstown Hospital from shock following injuries.

John Cully, a 'bus driver, deposed that he had stopped his 'bus at Cabinteely to set down passengers, when Giddings's car passed at about 30 miles per hour. Witness saw Miss Dunne running diagonally across the road, about 25 yards in front. She seemed to see the car coming and tried to get across in front. The car's left mudguard struck and knocked her down. The car appeared to put on speed immediately afterwards, and the girl fell upon it, and was not run over. It pulled up 100 yards further on.

To Mr. Burne—The girl was running as fast as she could. The road was dark at this point.

To the Justice—The car had good headlights, and the driver sounded his horn several times before passing the 'bus.

Patrick Davis Cabinteely said that he heard the crash while in his house. He had heard no sound of the brakes being applied.

Richard B. Wellwood, who was a passenger in Giddings's car, said that the girl suddenly appeared four or five yards in front, running across the road, with her head down.

District Justice Reddin, after expressing regret at the death of Miss Dunne, said that the charge against Giddings was akin to the capital charge, and the law was perfectly definite as to necessary proof. In the light of the evidence he held that there had been no criminal negligence in the management of the car, and he would order the accused man to be discharged.

A bright, sunny, natural girl

Full of cheerfulness, kindness and humour, and blessed with a healthy simplicity of outlook; with a well-educated mind, a firm will, a strong family spirit, clever sensitive hands, a great desire for efficiency in all things, and a big capacity for happiness. Views the world through rose-coloured glasses, and is probably more kind than worldly-wise; but the optimist always wins in the end.
